County Objects To Assessment Levied by SCD

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners yesterday authorized Prosecutor Robert H. Huffer to file an objection to the Scioto Conservancy District's proposal for assessments against the county.

The Commission adopted a resolution calling for the objection. Prosecutor Huffer's protest will be based on these reasons:

1. Costs of the proposed project for flood control far exceed benefits to be derived.

2. Benefits alleged to be conferred upon Pickaway County are unclear, unexplained and uncertain.

3. Proposed assessment upon Pickaway County is unconstitutional, on the grounds that one political subdivision cannot tax another political subdivision.

THE COUNTY lawmakers thus join Circleville Council in authorizing official filing of objections against the controversial proposal. The city fathers adopted a resolution last week directing Solicitor Kenneth Robbins to file an exception against the assessment that would be levied against Circleville.

According to the Conservancy District's appraisal, county government here would be assessed about $75,000 for benefits derived through the construction of Alum and Mill Creek Dams in Franklin County. The city's assessment has been tabulated at about $33,000.

Governing bodies, individual property owners and civic organizations in Ross and Franklin Counties have already or are in the process of filing objections against the flood control proposal. Pickaway County's total assessment would be only a small fraction of the total amount of money required to complete the project, with Franklin and Ross bearing the major share of the financial burden.

Total benefits, both public and private, in Pickaway County have been set at $428,878. Assessments would be based on 52 per cent of benefits derived.

The deadline for filing objections is Aug. 17.

In other business, the Commissioners accepted the resignation of Glenn Grimes, New Holland, a member of Berger Hospital's Board of Governors. He cited his health as the reason for quitting the post.

RUSSELL C. PALM, Route 4, was appointed to fill Grimes' unexpired term. Palm, who formerly was a member of the hospital board, will serve until Nov. 17, 1965.

A plat listing one section of the proposed Logan Elm Village housing development south of Circleville is scheduled to come up for additional study at next week's meeting. The initial development plan lists 51 lots and several streets.

The housing project is part of a plan calling for the eventual erection of 400 homes along Route 23 by the Miller Development Co., a subsidiary of South-Central Rural Electric Cooperative.

The Miller firm earlier announced that builder of the homes will be the Tectonics Construction Co. of Fairborn, O.

3 Whites Held in Dixie Slaying

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Three white men were jailed on murder charges today while police sought a fourth in the fatal shooting of a Negro woman during race riots last March.

The arrests late Monday came through clues uncovered by Detective Sgt. Donald Coleman and Lee Cote while investigating an unrelated crime.

Held without bond were J. W. Rich, 21, Wayne M. Chessman, 21, and Elmer Kato, 19, all of Jacksonville.

They are charged with the March 23rd death of 35-year-old Mrs. Johnnie Mae Chappell. She was fatally shot in the stomach while searching for a lost wallet along U.S. 1. Several blocks away, police were then trying to quell rioters.

Coleman and Cote said Rich signed a statement saying he fired the fatal shot from a passing car. The officers said Chessman signed a statement saying he was in the car at the time.

A 22-caliber revolver, believed to be the death weapon, has been found, police said. Racial unrest reached a violent stage here during spring demonstrations by Negroes demanding integration.

Racial tension eventually eased through the appointment of a biracial committee. Mrs. Chappell's death at the height of demonstrations was the only fatality.

Severe Storms Are Predicted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Weather Bureau issued this special forecast today:

Scattered severe thunderstorms with one or two tornadoes locally damaging winds and large hail are expected this afternoon and evening from 2 p. m. to 8 p. m. EST, in the area along and 60 miles either side of a line from 60 miles north-northwest of Indianapolis, Ind., to 20 miles north of Canton, Ohio.

This takes in most of northern Ohio north of a line from west of Dayton to Columbus to Zanesville to about Cambridge, Ohio, and thence northward.

Famous Elm Has Thriving 'Offspring'

There's a strong chance an "offspring" of the once mighty Logan Elm may point skyward at the famous tree's habitat south of Circleville.

The remains of the once-majestic elm has been declared dead — the victim of the elements and age. But Mrs. Tom Boyer of 1095 S. Washington St. is quick to point out that not all traces of the famed tree are gone.

Following a storm about four years ago, Mrs. Boyer broke two twigs from a branch of the elm that had been felled by wind. The twigs were about 15 inches long.

The thoughtful Mrs. Boyer brought the two twigs home and planted them in her back yard. But only one took root. After considerable care and interest on the part of Mrs. Boyer, her miniature Logan Elm now stands about 10 feet tall and appears to have the potential of becoming a state-ly tree.

Although the local resident is justly proud of the hearty young elm, she says she would like to have the tree started from a twig taken back to the Logan Elm home-grounds. "This would be a way of preserving one of our famous landmarks," she said.

Mrs. Boyer made it clear that she would be willing to let the young tree go only with the understanding that it go back to the site of the parent Logan Elm.

Backyard Golfers Boost JFK Fund

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—They're calling "fore!" in a backyard where an 11-year-old girl has opened a 9-hole golf course to raise money for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

Linda Ward teamed with her brothers, Robert, 8, and John, 6, and two playmates to complete the "course" in two days.

Linda borrowed putters and golf balls from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ward. Neighbors contributed cookies and soft drinks for the "19th hole."

Neighborhood children pay 10 cents a game. So far Linda has collected about $14 for the library, to be constructed in Cambridge, Mass.

Old Icebox 'Child Traps' Still Taking Tragic Toll

CHICAGO (AP)—Last winter, Leonard L. Fuwell, 29, bought a new refrigerator and put the old refrigerator on the back porch of his apartment.

Because he has three children, aged 3 to 7, he tied the door shut with plastic-coated clotheslines.

Last Friday, three small children of George Hartman, 30, who lives in the basement apartment beneath the Fuwells, climbed into the old box. The door closed, the children died.

Criminal Justice Aide Is Set Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has announced that an Office of Criminal Justice will be established within the U.S. Department of Justice to make a critical review of the fairness and effectiveness of federal law enforcement.

He says the office will help "insure that the department over which I preside is more than a department of prosecution and is in fact the Department of Justice."

Kennedy disclosed the plan Monday in a speech to the criminal law section of the American Bar Association on the opening day of the association's annual meeting.

The attorney general named Prof. James Vorenberg, 36, of Harvard Law School as the first head of the new office.

Vorenberg is working on a criminal law study for the American Law Institute.

In addition to the new office, Kennedy suggested creation of a commission to study law enforcement all over the country.

Kennedy did not give details on the duties of Vorenberg and his staff. Included in their general assignment will be improving the handling of such matters as federal arrests, providing counsel for the poor and psychiatric examination of prisoners.

Georgia Housewives Want Back in Kitchen

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Housewives here reportedly are anxious to get back to cooking in the kitchen.

That may seem strange, but residents have had to use everything from charcoal grills to an electric iron to prepare their food since construction equipment ripped into a gas line five days ago.

Officials of the South Georgia Natural Gas Co. said the tedious job of turning all 12,500 gas meters back on and making sure all pilot lights are properly lit should be completed tonight.

brothers, Joseph, 6, and Marty, 3, was written Monday. An inquest jury ruled that they died accidentally.

The inquiry established no evidence as to what happened to the rope Fuwell tied around the old refrigerator. Probably, at some time during the months the appliance sat on the back porch, someone needed the line for something else.

A Mass of the Angels will be said for the youngsters Wednesday.

The deaths pointed up a problem that affects children everywhere in the nation. It has not been solved despite federal legislation requiring push-out doors on refrigerators made since 1958, and state laws requiring that doors be removed from discarded refrigerators.

Fuwell's refrigerator had not been discarded. It was just idle, and stored on his property.

Each year, a dozen or more children die of suffocation in idle refrigerators. In 1962, the toll reached a high of 35.

The death-trap problem first became a widespread concern in the 1930s when old ice boxes were being discarded as the electric refrigerator was winning acceptance.

It surged again after World War II when resumption of civilian appliance manufacturing spurred a slough-off of over-age electric coolers.

Last year's boom in refrigerator sales again heightened the menace of abandoned boxes.

Erhard Shuns Force To Destroy Wall

BONN, Germany (AP)—With the approach of the third anniversary of the Berlin wall Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany pledged today not to use force to knock down the barrier.

Erhard said his government and its allies stood by their promise to safeguard the freedom of West Berlin. But he said West Germany "will not let itself be drawn into any use of violence, such as the Communist side repeatedly imputes to it."

Erhard added that his government repeatedly has announced its readiness "for a peaceful solution of the German question, but it would be a delusion if the East saw in that a sign of recognition for the reality of terror it has created."

Erhard's remarks were contained in the bulletin of the government press office. The Communists closed the border between East and West Berlin Aug. 13, 1961, and put up the wall in the following weeks. The West Germans call it "the wall of shame."

Kennedy Given Pat by Wagner

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says he would not consider running for U.S. senator from New York without Mayor Robert F. Wagner's "express approval."

A few minutes after Kennedy made that statement Monday, Wagner said:

"If he is available, he is the type of person who would make an exceptionally fine candidate. I am sure that he would win."

"I have a high regard for him as a friend and as a public servant."

Asked whether his remarks constituted an endorsement, Wagner said:

"I think I've made a pretty strong statement already."

Wagner said he would not say more until he had talked again with Kennedy. Kennedy visited Wagner last Friday. No further meeting has been announced.

The Democratic nominee will face Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

Kennedy, here Monday to speak at the convention of the American Bar Association, was asked by newsmen about the Senate race.

One of his replies was: "Under no circumstances would I ever have considered, or would I now consider, coming into the State of New York against the wishes of the mayor."

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, who has wide backing upstate for the Democratic nomination for senator, said Wagner assured him Monday night that he "had certainly not endorsed . . . Kennedy and did not intend to endorse any candidate" before the nominating convention Sept. 1.

Stratton said: "The attorney general has already removed himself from the race and I take him at his word." This may have been a reference to a declaration by Kennedy last June when he declined to run for the office.

At that time, President Johnson had not ruled out Kennedy and other Cabinet members as possible vice presidential candidates.

MIG Pilots May Be Chinese

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon said today a number of Chinese Communist jet fighters have been sent into North Vietnamese bases.

Arthur Sylvester, defense press chief, recalled that last week Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had said he expected the Red Chinese to introduce planes into North Viet Nam.

"We now have indications," Sylvester said, "that a number of Chinese Communist MIG15s and MIG17s have been introduced into North Viet Nam."

"This has been expected for some time because of known preparations such as lengthening of runways of airfields in the Hanoi area."

Sylvester was asked if Chinese Communists were flying the planes.

He replied that the pilots could be North Vietnamese, trained in China, or "they could very well be Chinese."

Sylvester said he did not know whether these Red Chinese planes are intended for air defense or other action.

In reply to another question, Sylvester said there was no evidence that these planes have been flown over South Vietnamese territory.

He was asked if U.S. Navy planes had been "scrambled" to meet Chinese planes at any time.

He said that it has been known for a long time that Red China had planes based on the island of Hainan on the eastern side of the Gulf of Tonkin.

He said he did not know immediately whether the U.S. Navy planes have been sent up

Apportioning Brake Eyed By Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders are reported near agreement on a compromise proposal that would direct, but not compel, courts to go slow on ordering reapportionment of state legislatures on a population basis.

The compromise would substitute for a proposal by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to stay all court-ordered reapportionment until after state legislatures have had two sessions to consider the matter.

Dirksen's proposal, which he hopes to attach to the foreign aid authorization bill, would delay court-ordered reapportionment by from two to four years. In the meantime, efforts would be pressed to nullify the Supreme Court ruling requiring population to be the basis of apportionment in both houses of state legislatures.

The compromise, worked out in four days of conferences participated in by Solicitor General Archibald Cox, would direct lower federal courts to take into account all legitimate difficulties surrounding reapportionment in any case.

Estes Conviction Upheld on Appeal

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The mail fraud and conspiracy conviction of Billy Sol Estes has been upheld by a federal appeals court.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Monday that the trial judge was right in overruling defense motions for a directed verdict of innocent because of insufficient evidence.

U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomas, who called Estes "the perpetrator of one of the most gigantic swindles" had sentenced Estes to 15 years.

Estes was convicted on 5 of 14 counts charging fraud and conspiracy in arranging with farmers for mortgages on nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

Apportioning Brake Eyed By Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders are reported near agreement on a compromise proposal that would direct, but not compel, courts to go slow on ordering reapportionment of state legislatures on a population basis.

The compromise would substitute for a proposal by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to stay all court-ordered reapportionment until after state legislatures have had two sessions to consider the matter.

Dirksen's proposal, which he hopes to attach to the foreign aid authorization bill, would delay court-ordered reapportionment by from two to four years. In the meantime, efforts would be pressed to nullify the Supreme Court ruling requiring population to be the basis of apportionment in both houses of state legislatures.

The compromise, worked out in four days of conferences participated in by Solicitor General Archibald Cox, would direct lower federal courts to take into account all legitimate difficulties surrounding reapportionment in any case.

Estes Conviction Upheld on Appeal

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The mail fraud and conspiracy conviction of Billy Sol Estes has been upheld by a federal appeals court.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Monday that the trial judge was right in overruling defense motions for a directed verdict of innocent because of insufficient evidence.

U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomson, who called Estes "the perpetrator of one of the most gigantic swindles" had sentenced Estes to 15 years.

Estes was convicted on 5 of 14 counts charging fraud and conspiracy in arranging with farmers for mortgages on nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

Antipoverty Bill Passed, Awaits LBJ's Signature

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today passed the $947.5-million antipoverty bill designed to give work to idle youth and to help low-income families get off relief.

Completing congressional action, the Senate accepted House amendments to the original Senate version even though some were disliked by sponsors of the bill. The Senate action was by voice vote.

Enactment of the bill was a major victory for Johnson who had given the legislation highest priority in the closing days of the session. It was opposed by Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential nominee.

The money figures in the bill are authorizations. Congress must vote appropriations in a supplemental bill if the program is to get started this fall.

Sargent Shriver, who is expected to be named to administer the program, has estimated it should reach 600,000 persons directly in the first year and up to 7 million families through community action projects.

Before passing the bill Saturday, the House put into it what some senators called a disturbing loyalty oath and governors' veto provisions over some projects.

But Senate sponsors decided against making any fight over these points.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, said that "while we don't like some parts of it, we're going to take the House bill in order to get moving on this program."

Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., said in a separate interview he had become convinced that if the Senate, which passed its version July 23, sent the measure to a Senate-House committee, it might die there when Congress adjourns.

"We've got to take the House bill," he said. "It's the only way we can get it."

The House measure included

a provision that all individuals receiving government payments must sign non-Communist affidavits. Such a provision in the National Defense Education Act caused some colleges to reject government aid and it eventually was repealed.

The House also inserted a provision, rejected by the Senate, giving governors a veto in their states on aid to community, as well as privately financed, antipoverty projects. The governors also could block establishment of the proposed job corps in their states.

The antipoverty measure represents Johnson's major on-his-own legislative achievement since he became president last November. Most of the other domestic measures sent to him by Congress were proposed originally by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Once it becomes law, the measure will authorize widespread activity by the government in several fields. Johnson included these expenditures in his budget and the actual money is expected to be provided in a supplemental appropriations bill.

The measure authorizes $412.5 million for programs aimed at increasing the education, training and work experience of young men and women. This includes establishment of a job corps in which youths in the 16-21 age bracket would be assigned to conservation camps or resident training centers.

Under the bill's terms, the government would finance part-time employment for college students and for youths who want to complete their secondary schooling or take vocational training.

The measure authorizes appropriation of $315 million to pay up to 90 per cent of the cost of financing antipoverty programs carried out at the community level.

The measure also authorizes special assistance to poverty-stricken farmers and very small businesses, aid for migrant farm workers, and establishment of a corps of volunteer workers, to be paid $50 a month, to serve in the over-all antipoverty program.

Low interest loans up to $1,500 would be provided needy farm families for improvement of their farms. These families could get loans of up to $2,500 to assist them in developing non-farm income.

Stock Sales Picking Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices and the pace of trading picked up a bit in the stock market early this afternoon but international uncertainties still weighed on Wall Street.

Gains of fractions to a point or so among key stocks outnumbered losers in a somewhat irregular advance which lifted the popular market averages slightly.

Coppers continued to rise as copper future prices hit the highest levels since 1956.

Steels, motors, rails, rubbers, aerospace manufacturers, office equipments and building materials moved generally higher.

Utilities were off a bit on average. Chemicals, tobacco, airlines and oils were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .2 at 314.5 with industrials up .2, rails up .6 and utilities off .2. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .33 at 829.68.

Sheppard OK After Round Of Surgery

CLEVELAND (AP)—Samuel H. Sheppard was reported resting comfortably today following an operation for a back ailment a doctor said resulted from a scuffle Sheppard had in prison six months ago.

Sheppard underwent a 90-minute operation for a slipped disc Monday at Brentwood Hospital in suburban Warrensville Heights and should be hospitalized a week or 10 days.

"It was a rather large disc but everything went well," said Dr. Theodore F. Classen, hospital chief of staff. He and an orthopedic surgeon removed about a half inch of Sheppard's spinal chord, the doctor said.

Sheppard, described by doctors as having been in extreme pain for some time because of his back condition, entered the hospital Sunday. X-rays revealed a rupture on the right side of his body.

He is now free on bond from Ohio Penitentiary. A federal judge ruled last month that Sheppard's constitutional rights were violated in his 1954 trial in Cleveland. The former Bay Village osteopath was convicted of second-degree murder in the bludgeoning slaying of his wife, and sentenced to life imprisonment.

The state has appealed the federal court order and a hearing is set for October.

Special Call Of Legislature Under Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov.

James A. Rhodes and legislative leaders are "leaning" towards a special session of the General Assembly late this year.

That's the word today from John McElroy, top Rhodes aide, in the governor's absence on a trip to Washington. McElroy said the governor now feels that an extraordinary session may be desirable but that no date or agenda has been set.

A definite decision, one way or the other, might be reached this month, McElroy speculated. Only the governor can call a special session.

Implementation of the voter-approved $500 million highway bond issue, pay raises for county officials and congressional redistricting are the most likely subjects for inclusion in legislative call. He expressed doubt that legislative reapportionment would be considered.

Rhodes is keeping in touch with legislative leaders, who appear more favorable towards a special session than formerly, McElroy added.

43 Ohio Nurse Homes Regain Licenses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Health Department has withdrawn license revocation action against 43 more nursing homes which have shown their electrical wiring now complies with special regulations adopted after last year's disastrous nursing home fire in Huron County.

The homes had been notified that their licenses would be revoked after inspections in March showed substandard wiring. Reinspections showed that corrections now have brought the nursing homes within compliance of the regulations. The fire at Fitchville last November killed 63 persons.

a provision that all individuals receiving government payments must sign non-Communist affidavits. Such a provision in the National Defense Education Act caused some colleges to reject government aid and it eventually was repealed.

The House also inserted a provision, rejected by the Senate, giving governors a veto in their states on aid to community, as well as privately financed, antipoverty projects. The governors also could block establishment of the proposed job corps in their states.

The antipoverty measure represents Johnson's major on-his-own legislative achievement since he became president last November. Most of the other domestic measures sent to him by Congress were proposed originally by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Once it becomes law, the measure will authorize widespread activity by the government in several fields. Johnson included these expenditures in his budget and the actual money is expected to be provided in a supplemental appropriations bill.

The measure authorizes $412.5 million for programs aimed at increasing the education, training and work experience of young men and women. This includes establishment of a job corps in which youths in the 16-21 age bracket would be assigned to conservation camps or resident training centers.

Under the bill's terms, the government would finance part-time employment for college students and for youths who want to complete their secondary schooling or take vocational training.

The measure authorizes appropriation of $315 million to pay up to 90 percent of the cost of financing antipoverty programs carried out at the community level.

The measure also authorizes special assistance to poverty-stricken farmers and very small businesses, aid for migrant farm workers, and establishment of a corps of volunteer workers, to be paid $50 a month, to serve in the over-all antipoverty program.

Low interest loans up to $1,500 would be provided needy farm families for improvement of their farms. These families could get loans of up to $2,500 to assist them in developing non-farm income.

Stock Sales Picking Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices and the pace of trading picked up a bit in the stock market early this afternoon but international uncertainties still weighed on Wall Street.

Gains of fractions to a point or so among key stocks outnumbered losers in a somewhat irregular advance which lifted the popular market averages slightly.

Coppers continued to rise as copper future prices hit the highest levels since 1956.

Steels, motors, rails, rubbers, aerospace manufacturers, office equipments and building materials moved generally higher.

Utilities were off a bit on average. Chemicals, tobaccos, airlines and oils were mixed. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .2 at 314.5 with industrials up .2, rails up .6 and utilities off .2. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .33 at 829.68.

Mrs. Jerome Koester won the prize in the women's contest and Mrs. Stanley Stevens received honorable mention. The children's participation on foot races, marshmallow eating, peanut scramble and balloon contest merited prizes to Lisa Hill, Nick Koester, Mary Pat Berry and Tom Shea.

Sheppard OK After Round Of Surgery

CLEVELAND (AP)—Samuel H. Sheppard was reported resting comfortably today following an operation for a back ailment a doctor said resulted from a scuffle Sheppard had in prison six months ago.

Sheppard underwent a 90-minute operation for a slipped disc Monday at Brentwood Hospital in suburban Warrensville Heights and should be hospitalized a week or 10 days.

"It was a rather large disc but everything went well," said Dr. Theodore F. Classen, hospital chief of staff. He and an orthopedic surgeon removed about a half inch of Sheppard's spinal chord, the doctor said.

Sheppard, described by doctors as having been in extreme pain for some time because of his back condition, entered the hospital Sunday. X-rays revealed a rupture on the right side of his body.

He is now free on bond from Ohio Penitentiary. A federal judge ruled last month that Sheppard's constitutional rights were violated in his 1954 trial in Cleveland. The former Bay Village osteopath was convicted of second-degree murder in the bludgeoning slaying of his wife, and sentenced to life imprisonment.

The state has appealed the federal court order and a hearing is set for October.

Special Call Of Legislature Under Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov.

James A. Rhodes and legislative leaders are "leaning" towards a special session of the General Assembly late this year.

That's the word today from John McElroy, top Rhodes' aide, in the governor's absence on a trip to Washington. McElroy said the governor now feels that an extraordinary session may be desirable but that no date or agenda has been set.

A definite decision, one way or the other, might be reached this month, McElroy speculated. Only the governor can call a special session.

Implementation of the voter-approved $500 million highway bond issue, pay raises for county officials and congressional redistricting are the most likely subjects for inclusion in legislative call. He expressed doubt that legislative reapportionment would be considered.

Rhodes is keeping in touch with legislative leaders, who appear more favorable towards a special session than formerly, McElroy added.

Rush, who was captured in Korea Nov. 26, 1950, and spent 10 years in China, left here in 1949. He was one of several Korean war turncoats who returned to this country last fall, but went to Tucson, Ariz., to live with his mother.

Red China Reported Stepping Up Draft

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China started pressing huge numbers of youths, factory workers and government officials into military service three weeks before the Gulf of Tonkin crisis, according to delayed official reports.

The reports said more than half a million people had been drafted and more are being called up.

to look over any flights by the Chinese planes.

Sylvester was asked if any additional U.S. planes have been deployed in view of the arrival of Red Chinese planes in North Viet Nam.

He said no, that this was unnecessary because this contingency had been considered in plans made some time ago.

Both the MIG15s and the MIG17s are old and slow, compared with modern jet aircraft of both the free world and the Communist camp.

Russia sent the MIGs to China some years ago when relations between the two big Communist allies were more cordial.

The MIG15 first appeared in action in Korea more than a decade ago, followed by the MIG17.

Russia now has progressed to at least a MIG21 series.

Giant Sequoia Plagued by Interior Fire

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Forest rangers said "now it's up to the tree," as they fought to save a massive, 20-centuries-old redwood from a fire smouldering within its trunk.

The tree, which towers to a height of 200 feet in Sequoia National Forest, was hit twice by lightning last week.

Since then, fire has nagged at the trunk 150 feet from the ground, marked by an outpouring of smoke but rarely showing flames.

"We've done all we can to save her," said Gene Sadler, foreman of the Milo forestry.

Since lightning first struck the tree last Tuesday, as many as 50 men have tried to stop the fire, aided by a helicopter, a pumper truck and a bulldozer.

Because of the height of the fire, the pumper couldn't put it out. Ten loads of chemicals dropped from the helicopter went off the foliage above the fire like water off a duck's back.

A ranger described the burning redwood as "a female seed tree and parent of most of the redwoods in the area" — about 150 miles north of Los Angeles in the Sierra foothills.

"Any ordinary tree would have been cut down immediately to protect against it setting other trees afire," said forestry dispatcher Harry Harp.

"But this one is a seed tree, vital to the natural reforestation of the area."

Ex-Recorder Denied Parole

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Parole has been denied to Frank S. Day, 59, former Cuyahoga County recorder who went to prison last September for certifying a fraudulent payroll and forgery.

Ohio's Pardon and Parole Commission, in announcing the decision today, said Day's case will be considered again in August 1966.

No reasons for the denial were given, but the vote of board members was reported to be 3-2.

Day, a former state senator, interrupted his trial to plead guilty and was brought to Ohio Penitentiary here last Sept. 25. Last Dec. 6 he was transferred to the Roseville branch near Zanesville.

State Lists School Trust Fund Interest

Total bond investment on behalf of the state and ministerial land trust accounts stood at $817,000 as of the close of the 1964 fiscal year, according to a report just completed by State Auditor Roger W. Tracy.

The investment included $733,111.55 for the school land trust account and $83,888.45 on behalf of the ministerial land trust account.

The funds invested represent the proceeds derived from the sale of school and ministerial lands originally set aside for educational and religious purposes together with mineral rights. Interest paid during the last fiscal year amounted to $24,700.51, of which $21,903.45 went to the support of schools, and the balance of $2,797.06 was divided among the churches in the respective townships.

Sharing in the school investments are 65 townships scattered in 29 counties while 22 townships in nine counties share the interest on investments of funds received from ministerial land sales. All investments were made through the State Sinking Fund Commission of which Tracy serves as president.

Largest investment of school funds, amounting to $248,669.31, has been credited to the account of Starr township in Hocking County, followed by Union township in Carroll County with an investment of $103,030.39.

Starr township also has the largest investment of ministerial funds, totalling $39,191.83, followed by Cheshire township in Gallia County, with an investment of $12,109.48.

School funds invested in Pickaway County, by township, include: Circleville Twp., $887.44; Harrison Twp., $2,639.25; Walnut Twp., $1,749.42; Pickaway Twp., $808.27.

The World Today

By MILTON KELLY
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is giving President Johnson a substantial share of the legislation he asked for under a "must-pass" label.

How much of the rest of it he will get before Congress winds up its 1964 session remains to be seen. It apparently will be a man-sized proportion.

However, in at least some danger in these closing weeks of the session are his programs for medical care for the aged and increased Social Security benefits. Some well informed sources say he may have to choose between the two. They concede he could wind up with neither.

They already have written off as "dead" for this year his wage policy program for industry, including a proposal for double pay for overtime. They also see a "very doubtful" future this year for a liberalizing overhaul of the immigration laws requested by the President.

With some give and take, his forces expect to get most of the rest of his program into the books, and are prepared to make a bragging point of this in the presidential campaign.

Tops on the program already written into law, of course, are the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the $11.5 billion tax cut, plus an extension of excise taxes totaling $1.9 billion a year.

Congress also boosted the legal maximum national debt limit from $315 billion to $324 billion for one year as Johnson asked.

Among his major victories was enactment of a cotton-wheat farm aid bill. It established a new program permitting U.S. cotton textile mills to buy government-owned cotton at the same subsidy price as foreign producers, and a voluntary wheat price support program aimed at assuring $2 a bushel wheat.

Other feathers in the administration cap included: Congressional approval of his program to protect wilderness spaces.

A start on a $375 million, three-year program of grants to public bodies for the purchase of mass transit equipment, plus loan-guarantee authority.

The new pay increase for federal officials and employees. Wider police powers for the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Continued support for the controversial space flight project to land American astronauts on the moon in this decade.

Still in various stages of congressional action, with his forces optimistic he will get most of all of what he asked for in the bills, are such measures as his:

"War on poverty" program, a $947 million project.

Proposed $455 million extension of the area redevelopment program, to aid chronically depressed regions.

$1 billion companion piece to help build the economy of the Appalachian region.

$375 million expanded food stamp plan to help the needy.

Extension of the National Defense Education Act.

Huge housing program, which has been shorn of some of controversial new features Johnson had requested.

Eastern Grain Growers Seen Taking Loss

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted Monday that wheat growers in the eastern half of the nation will take a bigger dip in income from this grain crop during the current marketing year than their cousins in the West.

A wheat situation report said there are two major factors indicating such a prospect.

One is that the percentage of grower participants in the new wheat stabilization program is much smaller in the eastern half of the country than in the west.

Another was said to be the fact that the demand for soft wheat, the class grown in the East, will be considerably weaker than demand for the hard wheats, grown in the West.

Only those farmers who participated in the new wheat program by planting within federal acreage allotments will be eligible for benefits of the program. Those benefits include price support certificates worth an average of 47.5 cents a bushel on 90 per cent of the normal production on the cooperating farmer's allotment.

Only about one-third of the acreage in the soft wheat areas in the eastern half of the country is enrolled in the program. A much larger portion in the western half is under the program.

Farmers not in the program must depend solely on whatever price they can get in the market place.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has authorized studies to determine how a milk cow's diet affects the quality of her milk—its protein and fat contents and its fatty acids composition.

The research will be conducted by the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station under a department contract.

One group of cows will be fed corn silage alone, another corn silage and hay in unrestricted amounts and a third limited amounts of hay alone. All diets will be supplemented with various amounts of concentrates.

The feeding experiment will cover a 300-day period. The milk from each group of cows will be analyzed for its various contents nutritional food elements.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rural Electrification Administration reported today that 111 of the rural cooperative electric systems financed by its reduced rates during the fiscal year ended June 30 in amounts sufficient to save their customers more than $2.5 million a year.

The agency said that only nine of its 1,000 electric borrowers found it necessary to increase rates.

11 Lord-of-Manor Titles Up for Sale

LONDON (AP) — Opportunity knocks: you too can become a lord of the manor. And all by the simple procedure of spending about $2,000 —and outbidding other aspirants.

The lord of the manor also is a true esquire and can write dom of grazing sheep on common lands. Any commoner to day has the same right, however.

Eleven titles are going under the auctioneer's hammer at the Moot Hall, Colchester, Sept. 30.

The title lord of the manor goes back a thousand years or more. The ones on sale are comparatively new. They date from the 15th, 16th or 17th centuries.

The titles were bought up by Joseph Beaumont, grandfather of the present owner. Titles were a hobby of his. He bought more than 80 in Essex, Suffolk and Norfolk counties. His son bought more. Much of the collection has already been sold.

Lest anyone become confused the title lord of the manor has nothing to do with a peerage. It has almost no privileges connected with it. Further, there is no real property involved.

Unless you already have a title you are still going to be called mister.

In olden days, before the commoners came into Parliament and took rights unto themselves, the title meant lords of the manor could take back land for want of an heir. This fine practice was called escheat.

Manor lords could fine tenants whose daughters married outside the manor. The manor was not only the house, but also the estate around it where the serfs labored under the lord.

The manor lord could also exercise droit de seigneur — right of the lord to enjoy the first pleasures of the bridal bed of all marriages involving serfs within his manor.

These rights are gone forever, but the title still yields the free-

"Esq." after his name. A commoner can gain this courtesy simply by receiving a bill from his tailor.

The titles up for sale are well-documented. They include court rolls, surveys, court books, rentals and minute books which give a detailed account of their past histories.

C. M. Stanford and Son is selling the titles on behalf of J. L. Beaumont of Coggeshall, Essex.

They are the perfect gift — for someone who has everything.

Ohio REA To Battle Federal Curb

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Ohio Rural Electric Cooperatives have voted to fight the federal government's alleged attempt to assert control over cooperatives.

The action came in the form of a resolution Monday at a meeting of representatives of the 30-member group.

The members said expansion of the authority of the Federal Power Commission to include rural electric cooperatives is "duplication of effort by two government agencies."

Such cooperatives are supervised currently by the Rural Electrification Administration.

Adoption of the resolution came after Rep. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, criticized the FPC for attempting to assert control over electric cooperatives.

He said the FPC is "exerting its authority beyond what it should be" in attempting to gain regulatory powers over intrastate electric cooperatives.

Ohio's cooperatives are supporting a bill pending in Congress which would exempt from FPC regulation cooperatives operating solely within a particular state.

also see a "very doubtful" future this year for a liberalizing overhaul of the immigration laws requested by the President.
With some give and take, his forces expect to get most of the rest of his program into the books, and are prepared to make a bragging point of this in the presidential campaign.
Tops on the program already written into law, of course, are the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the $11.5 billion tax cut, plus an extension of excise taxes totaling $1.9 billion a year.
Congress also boosted the legal maximum national debt limit from $315 billion to $324 billion for one year as Johnson asked.
Among his major victories was enactment of a cotton-wheat farm aid bill. It established a new program permitting U.S. cotton textile mills to buy government-owned cotton at the same subsidy price as foreign producers, and a voluntary wheat price support program aimed at assuring $2 a bushel wheat.
Other feathers in the administration cap included:
Congressional approval of his program to protect wilderness spaces.
A start on a $375 million, three-year program of grants to public bodies for the purchase of mass transit equipment, plus loan-guarantee authority.
The new pay increase for federal officials and employees.
Wider police powers for the Securities and Exchange Commission.
Continued support for the controversial space flight project to land American astronauts on the moon in this decade.
Still in various stages of congressional action, with his forces optimistic he will get most of all of what he asked for in the bills, are such measures as:
"War on poverty" program, a $947 million project.
Proposed $455 million extension of the area redevelopment program, to aid chronically depressed regions.
$1 billion companion piece to help build the economy of the Appalachian region.
$375 million expanded food stamp plan to help the needy.
Extension of the National Defense Education Act.
Huge housing program, which has been shorn of some of controversial new features Johnson had requested.

Eastern Grain Growers Seen Taking Loss

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted Monday that wheat growers in the eastern half of the nation will take a bigger dip in income from this grain crop during the current marketing year than their cousins in the West.
A wheat situation report said there are two major factors indicating such a prospect.
One is that the percentage of grower participants in the new wheat stabilization program is much smaller in the eastern half of the country than in the western.
Another was said to be the fact that the demand for soft wheat, the class grown in the East, will be considerable weaker than demand for the hard wheats, grown in the West.
Only those farmers who participated in the new wheat program by planting within federal acreage allotments will be eligible for benefits of the program. Those benefits include price support certificates worth an average of 47.5 cents a bushel on 90 percent of the normal production on the cooperating farmer's allotment.
Only about one-third of the acreage in the soft wheat areas in the eastern half of the country is enrolled in the program. A much larger portion in the western half is under the program.
Farmers not in the program must depend solely on whatever price they can get in the market place.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has authorized studies to determine how a milk cow's diet affects the quality of her milk—its protein and fat contents and its fatty acids composition.
The research will be conducted by the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station under a department contract.
One group of cows will be fed corn silage alone, another corn silage and hay in unrestricted amounts and a third limited amounts of hay alone. All diets will be supplemented with various amounts of concentrates.
The feeding experiment will cover a 300-day period. The milk from each group of cows will be analyzed for its various contents nutritional food elements.
WASHINGTON (AP) — The rural Electrification Administration reported today that 111 of the rural cooperative electric systems financed by its reduced rates during the fiscal year ended June 30 in amounts sufficient to save their customers more than $2.5 million a year.
The agency said that only nine of its 1,000 electric borrowers found it necessary to increase rates.

11 Lord-of-Manor Titles Up for Sale

LONDON (AP) — Opportunity knocks: you too can become a lord of the manor. And all by the simple procedure of spending about $2,000 —and outbidding other aspirants.

Eleven titles are going under the auctioneer's hammer at the Moot Hall, Colchester, Sept. 30.
The title lord of the manor goes back a thousand years or more. The ones on sale are comparatively new. They date from the 15th, 16th or 17th centuries.

The titles were bought up by Joseph Beaumont, grandfather of the present owner. Titles were a hobby of his. He bought more than 80 in Essex, Suffolk and Norfolk counties. His son bought more. Much of the collection has already been sold.

Lest anyone become confused the title lord of the manor has nothing to do with a peerage. It has almost no privileges connected with it. Further, there is no real property involved.

Unless you already have a title you are still going to be called mister.

In olden days, before the commoners came into Parliament and took rights unto themselves, the title meant lords of the manor could take back land for want of an heir. This fine practice was called escheat.

Manor lords could fine tenants whose daughters married outside the manor. The manor was not only the house, but also the estate around it where the serfs labored under the lord.

The manor lord could also exercise droit de seigneur — right of the lord to enjoy the first pleasures of the bridal bed of all marriages involving serfs within his manor.

These rights are gone forever, but the title still yields the freedom of grazing sheep on common lands. Any commoner today has the same right, however.

The lord of the manor also is a true esquire and can write

"Esq." after his name. A commoner can gain this courtesy simply by receiving a bill from his tailor.

The titles up for sale are well-documented. They include court rolls, surveys, court books, rentals and minute books which give a detailed account of their past histories.

C. M. Stanford and Son is selling the titles on behalf of J. L. Beaumont of Coggeshall, Essex.

They are the perfect gift — for someone who has everything.

Ohio REA To Battle Federal Curb

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Ohio Rural Electric Cooperatives have voted to fight the federal government's alleged attempt to assert control over cooperatives.

The action came in the form of a resolution Monday at a meeting of representatives of the 30-member group.

The members said expansion of the authority of the Federal Power Commission to include rural electric cooperatives is "duplication of effort by two government agencies."

Such cooperatives are supervised currently by the Rural Electrification Administration.
Adoption of the resolution came after Rep. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, criticized the FPC for attempting to assert control over electric cooperatives.

He said the FPC is "exerting its authority beyond what it should be" in attempting to gain regulatory powers over intrastate electric cooperatives.

Ohio's cooperatives are supporting a bill pending in Congress which would exempt from FPC regulation cooperatives operating solely within a particular state.

Succeeding Scheffler is John H. Chesson Jr., 25, also a member of General Electric's Manufacturing Training Program. He will report to Keith L. Smith, supervisor of quality control engineering.

A native of Bedford, Va., Chesson is a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute with a BS degree in industrial engineering.

He was recently discharged from the United States Army where he held the rank of 1st Lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers. He served in the European Theater.

Fed Up with De Gaulle

France's President De Gaulle, who had an enviable run of luck in promoting his country's interests against all other considerations, may be heading into greater resistance by Paris' allies to some of his objectives and autocratic methods.

From barring Britain from the European Economic Community to a withdrawal of any meaningful support of NATO, to the development of an independent nuclear arsenal, De Gaulle has forcefully put into effect many major deviations from a united Western front.

In the last few months, however, the general has run into trouble with both his strongest ally and his chief free world competitor, West Germany, which under the administration of Konrad Adenauer reached a new plateau of harmony with France, has balked at a number of De Gaulle's proposals since Chancellor Erhard took office.

Bonn refuses to go along with France's concept of independent national forces as a substitute for a strong NATO. In fact, Chancellor Erhard is one of the staunchest supporters within NATO of Washington's plan to form a multinational fleet of nuclear-armed vessels.

Paris and Bonn have also clashed over the institution of diplomatic and trade relations with Red China by the Gaullist government. The Erhard government also sides with the United States against the De Gaulle proposal to neutralize Southeast Asia and give up the fight in South Viet Nam and Laos.

It is on this latter point that Paris has bumped heads hardest with Washington, which realistically views withdrawal at this point as little more than a surrender. At best, the stalemate of Korea would be repeated; more likely, withdrawal of U. S. troops would result in a Peking takeover of the entire peninsula.

President De Gaulle may be pushing hard for his concepts of a new Europe because of a realization that his advanced age leaves little time for delay. But it is this relentless, uncompromising De Gaulle drive which is provoking France's partners in the West into more solid resistance against further erosion of Western unity.

The French divisiveness which threatened the very foundations of the Atlantic Alliance may now be the rallying point from which a stronger West, with or without France, will emerge.

Do-It-Yourself Painting

(For Hal Boyle)

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — One of the lesser joys of owning a home of your own is that sooner or later—probably sooner—it's going to need painting.

If your suburban tract includes half a dozen producing oil wells, a mother lode of uranium ore and the site for a new multimillion-dollar shopping center, this is no problem.

You just call the painter and tell him to re-do your house.

But if your circumstances are more modest—and perhaps more typical—with a mortgage, a car and whatever cash value might accrue to a wife, a cat and sundry other assets, you join the mighty army of do-it-yourself painters.

Now and then a neighbor no more affluent than you will announce grandly, "No painting for me this summer—I'm going to have it done."

But after he gets his free estimate and calculates that to pay the bill he'd have to give up beer and find an acceptable substitute for food for a time, he'll join you at the paint store.

Not only must you decide what color to paint, but what kind of paint to buy.

Choosing colors involves consultation with the wife.

"I want the bathroom white," she says.

"No, you don't," you answer firmly. "You want it off-white. Plain white will make it look like a hospital emergency room."

"White," she decrees.

So white you paint. After you've splashed the last bit of gleaming white onto the floor—thank goodness it's tile and paint scrapes off easily—the wife comes into observe and comments, "It's too white—it looks like a hospital."

So back to the store.

Even if you bought the color you both thought would look best, there's no guarantee, of course, that it will be right when you get it on the wall.

Nor is there any standardization of colors. One company's oyster white looks like another brand's pearl white but not at all like the second firm's oyster white.

And all of this overlooks the fact that nothing in your ordinary life—even the most dedicated schedule of golfing and the best office-desk posture—has prepared your muscles for perching atop a ladder or snaking along a floor splashing at unpaintable places.

All things considered, maybe the summer wouldn't be too bad without beer. And we might be able to freeload on relatives for a month or so.

NEW YORK (AP) — Trouble getting into that girdle? Have dishpan hands? Patience, the push-and-spray people are working on it. Out of aerosol cans will come spray-on gloves for kitchen chores, a talcum dusting that eases ladies into girdles, or a spray touted as masher repellent.

In the research departments they also are talking of entire meals, which can be oozed forth by a gentle push on a few cans. And some of the experts cite an aerosol golf ball renewer.

Expansion into the field of medicines, even more than into foods, is the big goal the aerosol people see just ahead. The reason is development of new pro-pellants. These get the contents out without affecting or changing them through combining with them or strengthening or weakening their qualities.

The list is long. The Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association cites local anesthetics for home use to aid sunburn, muscle spasm or sprains, and for doctors' office for injections and first-aid treatment. Hospitals are trying out aerosol sprays to ease a mother's pain after childbirth, and Europe is experimenting with a spray anesthetic to relieve pains during childbirth.

Oxygen in aerosol containers is talked of for home use as first aid, such as in heart attacks—and some say for hangovers.

In the food division, Leonard G. Cannella of the aerosol division of Continental Can, says tomorrow's housewives will be able to push a button in some cans and have a whole meal. In addition to products already on the market, he says just ahead are ham spread, liver pate, shrimp spread, ground sea foods, scrambled eggs, premixed biscuits, pancake and waffle batters, and gourmet sauces.

Cannella says dentists now can use a spray-on novocain. The industry reports it now has 300 different products on the market with hundreds more being developed.

Some of the new items with which it hopes to catch your fancy are a spray-on dry vermouth for those who want only a whisper in their martinis; a bird repellent; dry spray lubricant to stop doors, windows and drawers from sticking; and for children an aerosol soap that can be pushed into various toy-like shapes for playing before washing.

Canada Chefs Desire Pro Recognition

VANCOUVER (AP) — Canadian chefs want and deserve professional recognition, says Gottlieb Dambach, president of the Association of Chefs de Cuisine of British Columbia.

Dambach, head chef of the Bayshore Inn here, says chefs deserve the same professional status as doctors and lawyers.

It takes longer to train a good chef than it does to train a good lawyer, he said. A chef, like a doctor, has to keep on learning.

"I'm still learning things from pot-washers."

Dambach, 33, helped organize the Canadian Federation of Chefs, now awaiting a federal charter, the first step toward professional status.

In Europe, every chef is a professional, says Dambach, who came to Canada from Switzerland in 1954.

He says the federation would like to see an apprentice system introduced in Canada to train future chefs.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

P. T. BARNUM'S famous midget, "Tom Thumb," was exactly 31 inches high, and when Barnum spotted him in a Connecticut town, he immediately signed him for his "show of wonders." He later so enchanted Queen Victoria that she bestowed upon him the title by which he henceforth was known: "General" Tom Thumb.

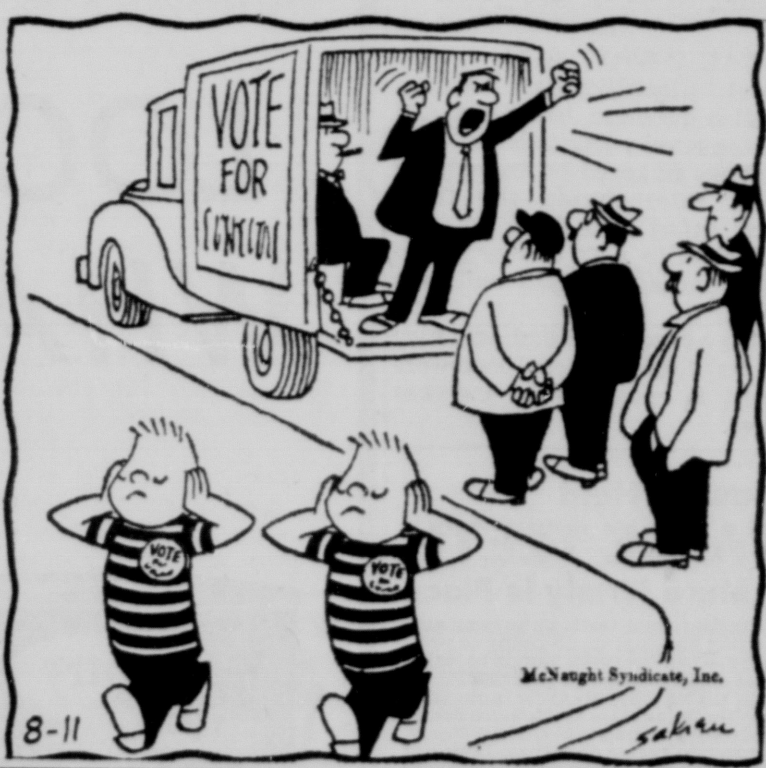

Legend has it that a fan once burst in unannounced to a hotel room where Tom Thumb was registered, and was confounded to find a giant seven and a half feet tall lounging on the bed. "You can't be the famous Tom Thumb!" stammered the intruder. "I certainly am," said the man on the bed sourly. "This is my day off."

Marston Bates, in his fascinating book, ANIMAL WORLDS, points out that periodically, even without man's interference, certain species have gone down to defeat, and become extinct. Man has hastened these processes immeasurably. Take the case of the musk-ox. Defending themselves against wolves—their natural enemies—musk-oxen developed a technique of forming a tight circle with their calves in the center. This worked just fine against the wolves, but then man, with his weapons came along—and the musk-oxen, in their tight circles made a perfect target for the spear, and then the rifle.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The distressing habit of bed-wetting in children is now being effectively controlled by a new drug.

Enuresis, or bed-wetting, has often resisted the combined efforts of family, physician, specialist, pediatrician, psychologist and psychiatrist to control it.

Now the University of California reports that a chemical Imipramine, can be successful in treating this problem.

In a concentrated study of 47 children who had been persistent bed-wetters, dramatic results were noted with the use of Imipramine.

Some of the children had previously undergone intensive psychotherapy, without success.

One of the most gratifying aspects of Imipramine is that it does not seem to create a dependence. Bed-wetting did not recur even after the drug was discontinued.

This medical achievement is truly a tremendous contribution to the physical and emotional well-being of chronic bed-wetters.

My husband insists on shaming our four-year-old son to make him stop wetting the bed. Is this right?

Mrs. P.T.B., New Hampshire
It could not be more wrong. Shaming or stigmatizing a child for wetting the bed is likely to perpetuate the habit—don't break it.

Worst of all, this kind of unfair humiliation can cause severe emotional disturbances. Bed-wetting is not intentional and does not deserve punishment or scolding. Instead, pa-

Goldwater Getting Unity

By John Chamberlain

The question of party unity is something that is troubling both Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater, but who would have thought a few months ago that President Johnson would have the greater worries?

Before San Francisco one would have thought that Goldwater would have to scratch much harder than Johnson for unity. But as the harmony meeting at Hershey, Pa., approaches things seem to be falling into line for him. He is doing even better than Ike Eisenhower did in 1952, for the intra-party opposition has been melting faster than it did in the case of the Taftites of twelve years ago.

In 1952, unity all depended on one man, Senator Taft, crushed by his defeat at the convention and still resentful of the cry of "thief" raised against him, went to his ancestral summer place at Murray Bay in Canada. There, reading bitter letters from his disappointed followers, he kept his own counsel. Meanwhile the reports kept coming in that Eisenhower wasn't doing well. It was the driest portion of the "dry creek" period of the Eisenhower candidacy.

Like the good pro and party man that he is, Bob Taft eventually heard a command from the lapping of the waters at Murray Bay and took off for the famous Morningside Heights meeting on September 12 with Ike. Unity was achieved and the Republicans went on to win.

It might have been thought that Goldwater would have considerably more trouble than Eisenhower in restoring harmony in the party ranks. To begin with, the bitter words at San-Francisco exceeded anything at previous conventions. Then there was the fragmented state of the Goldwater opposition. Instead of one old party man like Bob Taft to bring around, Goldwater had at least a dozen important competitors to mollify. Who would speak for the opposition? Who would round the chiefs up?

As things turn out, no one man is having to speak for the group of pre-nomination dissidents. Scranton, who is hosting the unity meeting, made his peace on the day of Goldwater's nomination. Nixon shed the chips from his shoulder in his own brilliant speech at San Francisco. Ike Eisenhower was quickly satisfied with Goldwater's explanation of the "extremism in defense of liberty" remark. Former GOP national chairman Len Hall of Oyster Bay, New York, and boss Ray Bliss of Ohio, both of whom had sat on the fence until the last minute tumbled into Goldwater's arms when they got the forgiveness signal.

At the moment of writing Henry Cabot Lodge seems to be one of the very few remaining Malcontents among the national Republican figures. Some Senators and Representatives are still sulking, but Kuchel of California, and Keating and Lindsay of New York, are not likely to make much difference. As a matter of fact the more trouble that Goldwater has in New York, the better for his candidacy. It helps to justify the plot-theory about the so-called "eastern establishment" in the eyes of Republicans throughout the West and South, and so serves to keep the hinterland up to fighting pitch. As one Goldwater man said at San Francisco, "we don't want to take on the whole press. But if people think a couple of New York newspapers and broadcasting stations are unfairly against us, it can only do us good."

Thus, as the Hershey meeting approaches, Barry seems to have held his party together. Johnson, after the Atlantic City convention, will probably be able to work the same trick. At the moment, however, there is the question of the Kennedy organizational workers who were hoping to see Bobby Kennedy tapped for Vice President. How loyal will they be? And there is the South where Democrats are reported deserting the party in droves for Goldwater. This scattering may not be permanent in all cases, once the need for keeping Democrats in power in the big committees in Congress is brought home to southerners. But for the next month it will be Johnson who is doing the fretting about party unity. Goldwater, apparently is off the hook.

NEW YORK (AP) — "Trouble getting into that grille? Have dishpan hands? Patience, the push-and-spray people are working on it. Out of aerosol cans will come spray-on gloves for kitchen chores, a talcum dusting that eases ladies into girdles, or a spray touted as masher repellent.

In the research departments they also are talking of entire meals, which can be oozed forth by a gentle push on a few cans. And some of the experts cite an aerosol golf ball renewer.

Expansion into the field of medicines, even more than into foods, is the big goal the aerosol people see just ahead. The reason is development of new pro-pellants. These get the contents out without affecting or changing them through combining with them or strengthening or weakening their qualities.

The list is long. The Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association cites local anesthetics for home use to aid sunburn, muscle spasm or sprains, and for doctors' office for injections and first-aid treatment. Hospitals are trying out aerosol sprays to ease a mother's pain after childbirth, and Europe is experimenting with a spray anesthetic to relieve pains during childbirth.

Oxygen in aerosol containers is talked of for home use as first aid, such as in heart attacks—and some say for hangovers.

In the food division, Leonard G. Cannella of the aerosol division of Continental Can, says tomorrow's housewives will be able to push a button in some cans and have a whole meal. In addition to products already on the market, he says just ahead are ham spread, liver pate, shrimp spread, ground sea foods, scrambled eggs, pre-mixed biscuits, pancake and waffle batters, and gourmet sauces.

Cannella says dentists now can use a spray-on novocain. The industry reports it now has 300 different products on the market with hundreds more being developed.

Some of the new items with which it hopes to catch your fancy are a spray-on dry vermouth for those who want only a whisper in their martinis; a bird repellent; dry spray lubricant to stop doors, windows and drawers from sticking; and for children an aerosol soap that can be pushed into various toy-like shapes for playing before washing.

Canada Chefs Desire Pro Recognition

VANCOUVER (AP) — Canadian chefs want and deserve professional recognition, says Gottlieb Dambach, president of the Association of Chefs de Cuisine of British Columbia.

Dambach, head chef of the Bayshore Inn here, says chefs deserve the same professional status as doctors and lawyers.

It takes longer to train a good chef than it does to train a good lawyer, he said. A chef, like a doctor, has to keep on learning.

"I'm still learning things from pot-washers."

Dambach, 33, helped organize the Canadian Federation of Chefs, now awaiting a federal charter, the first step toward professional status.

In Europe, every chef is a professional, says Dambach, who came to Canada from Switzerland in 1954.

He says the federation would like to see an apprentice system introduced in Canada to train future chefs.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

P. T. BARNUM'S famous midget, "Tom Thumb," was exactly 31 inches high, and when Barnum spotted him in a Connecticut town, he immediately signed him for his "show of wonders." He later so enchanted Queen Victoria that she bestowed upon him the title by which he henceforth was known: "General" Tom Thumb.

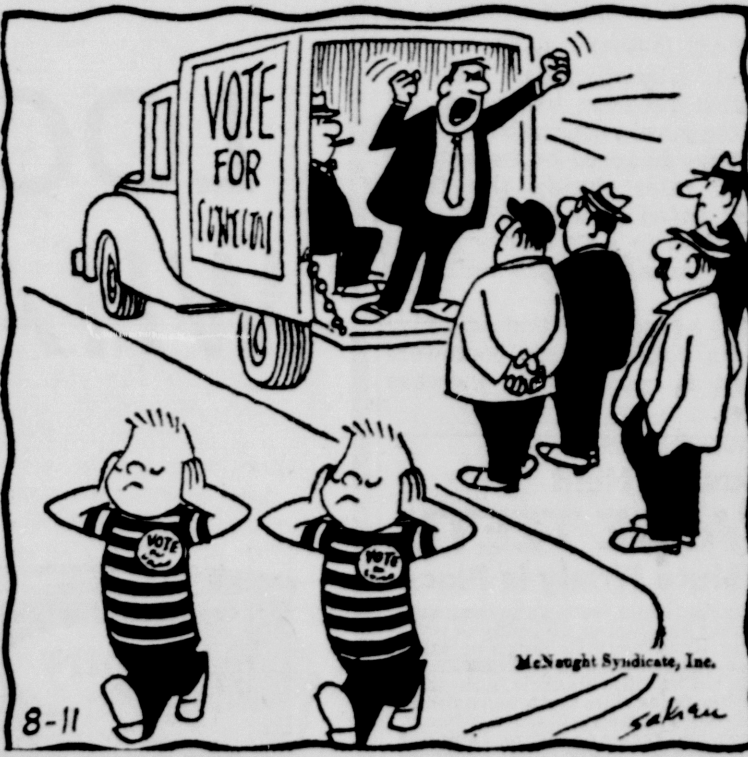

Legend has it that a fan once burst in unannounced to a hotel room where Tom Thumb was registered, and was confounded to find a giant seven and a half feet tall lounging on the bed. "You can't be the famous Tom Thumb!" stammered the intruder. "I certainly am," said the man on the bed sourly. "This is my day off."

Marston Bates, in his fascinating book, ANIMAL WORLDS, points out that periodically, even without man's interference, certain species have gone down to defeat, and became extinct. Man has hastened these processes immeasurably. Take the case of the musk-ox. Defending themselves against wolves—their natural enemies—musk-oxen developed a technique of forming a tight circle with their calves in the center. This worked just fine against the wolves, but then man, with his weapons came along—and the musk-oxen, in their tight circles made a perfect target for the spear, and then the rifle.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The distressing habit of bed-wetting in children is now being effectively controlled by a new drug.

Enuresis, or bed-wetting, has often resisted the combined efforts of family, physician, specialist, pediatrician, psychologist and psychiatrist to control it.

Now the University of California reports that a chemical Imipramine, can be successful in treating this problem.

In a concentrated study of 47 children who had been persistent bed-wetters, dramatic results were noted with the use of Imipramine.

Some of the children had previously undergone intensive psychotherapy, without success.

One of the most gratifying aspects of Imipramine is that it does not seem to create a dependence. Bed-wetting did not recur even after the drug was discontinued.

This medical achievement is truly a tremendous contribution to the physical and emotional well-being of chronic bed-wetters.

My husband insists on shaming our four-year-old son to make him stop wetting the bed. Is this right?

Mrs. P.T.B., New Hampshire
It could not be more wrong. Shaming or stigmatizing a child for wetting the bed is likely to perpetuate the habit—not break it.

Worst of all, this kind of unfair humiliation can cause severe emotional disturbances. Bed-wetting is not intentional and does not deserve punishment or scolding. Instead, pa-

Goldwater Getting Unity

By John Chamberlain

The question of party unity is something that is troubling both Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater, but who would have thought a few months ago that President Johnson would have the greater worries?

Before San Francisco one would have thought that Goldwater would have to scratch much harder than Johnson for unity. But as the harmony meeting at Hershey, Pa., approaches things seem to be falling into line for him. He is doing even better than Ike Eisenhower did in 1952, for the intra-party opposition has been melting faster than it did in the case of the Taftites of twelve years ago.

In 1952, unity all depended on one man, Senator Taft, crushed by his defeat at the convention and still resentful of the cry of "thief" raised against him, went to his ancestral summer place at Murray Bay in Canada. There, reading bitter letters from his disappointed followers, he kept his own counsel. Meanwhile the reports kept coming in that Eisenhower wasn't doing well. It was the driest portion of the "dry creek" period of the Eisenhower candidacy.

Like the good pro and party man that he is, Bob Taft eventually heard a command from the lapping of the waters at Murray Bay and took off for the famous Morningside Heights meeting on September 12 with Ike. Unity was achieved and the Republicans went on to win.

It might have been thought that Goldwater would have considerably more trouble than Eisenhower in restoring harmony in the party ranks. To begin with, the bitter words at San Francisco exceeded anything at previous conventions. Then there was the fragmented state of the Goldwater opposition. Instead of one old party man like Bob Taft to bring around, Goldwater had at least a dozen important competitors to mollify. Who would speak for the opposition? Who would round the chiefs up?

As things turn out, no one man is having to speak for the group of pre-nomination dissidents. Scranton, who is hosting the unity meeting, made his peace on the day of Goldwater's nomination. Nixon shed the chips from his shoulder in his own brilliant speech at San Francisco. Ike Eisenhower was quickly satisfied with Goldwater's explanation of the "extremism in defense of liberty" remark. Former GOP national chairman Len Hall of Oyster Bay, New York, and boss Ray Bliss of Ohio, both of whom had sat on the fence until the last minute tumbled into Goldwater's arms when they got the forgiveness signal.

At the moment of writing Henry Cabot Lodge seems to be one of the very few remaining Malcontents among the national Republican figures. Some Senators and Representatives are still sulking, but Kuchel of California, and Keating and Lindsay of New York, are not likely to make much difference. As a matter of fact the more trouble that Goldwater has in New York, the better for his candidacy. It helps to justify the plot-theory about the so-called "eastern establishment" in the eyes of Republicans throughout the West and South, and so serves to keep the hinterland up to fighting pitch. As one Goldwater man said at San Francisco, "we don't want to take on the whole press. But if people think a couple of New York newspapers and broadcasting stations are unfairly against us, it can only do us good."

Thus, as the Hershey meeting approaches, Barry seems to have held his party together. Johnson, after the Atlantic City convention, will probably be able to work the same trick. At the moment, however, there is the question of the Kennedy organizational workers who were hoping to see Bobby Kennedy tapped for Vice President. How loyal will they be? And there is the South where Democrats are reported deserting the party in droves for Goldwater. This scattering may not be permanent in all cases, once the need for keeping Democrats in power in the big committees in Congress is brought home to southerners. But for the next month it will be Johnson who is doing the fretting about party unity. Goldwater, apparently is off the hook.

Sen. Young Hails Growth Of REA Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young told representatives of the state's 30 rural electric cooperatives Monday there is no single program which has meant as much to rural America as the Rural Electrification Program.

Young said farmers have worked with and through their government in the program to help each other and themselves. He called it "one of the finest examples of cooperation between a citizen and his government and the wonderful benefits which can result to the advantage of both."

At the outset of his speech, Young laid the foundation for his remarks about citizen-government cooperation in the electrification program by saying: "The facts are our government is not made great by a comparatively few men and women in places of authority in Washington. Our government is made truly great by the courage, intelligence, industry, enterprise and vision of you from whom that authority comes."

Young called for support in the upcoming election from Republicans, as well as Democrats, attending the meeting.

"The truth is, the rank and file members of the Republican party are now, as they have always been, far ahead of their reactionary leaders in Washington such as Everett Dirksen (Senator from Illinois), Charlie Halleck (Congressman from Indiana) and Barry Goldwater (the party's presidential nominee). Ohio citizens know I am independent politically. Also, they never have to guess where I stand," he added.

The peppery senator said that 20 years ago, as congressman at large, he spoke out and voted in favor of the Rural Electrification Law.

He said at that time, only 18 per cent of Ohio's farmers had electricity. Today, he continued, more than 98 per cent of the state's farmers have the benefits of electricity. He said cooperatives now are serving 130,000 rural consumers and their families in Ohio.

His tirades against the folly of warfare are eloquent.

Red Doubts about U.S. Cause of War—Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, calling for "peace through preparedness," said Monday the war in South Viet Nam never would have started had the Communists believed the United States would act there.

"We have gone to war, we Americans, only when the enemy has thought us too weak to fight," or has doubted the nation's will to act, he said.

He said that that was the case at the outset of World War II, and added that there would have been no Korean war had the United States not "blithely announced" that that nation was outside its sphere of interest.

Goldwater said American troops are in Viet Nam today "fighting...we hope for the freedom of these people..."

"This would never have occurred had the enemy really believed that we would move in," Goldwater told more than 1,500 persons at the annual conference of the National Association of Counties.

Roman Catholic Church Moves Toward Showdown on Big Issues

VATICAN CITY (AP) — In an age of change and crisis, the Roman Catholic Church is moving toward a showdown on some of the major issues of modern times — and the world is watching.

The stirrings within the church encompass such questions as its position on artificial birth control, the population explosion, relations with communism, race relations and its role in an age of space exploration, atomic weapons and emerging nations.

What directions the church will take will become clearer next month with the resumption on Sept. 14 of the Vatican Ecumenical Council — the third session.

Before the prelates will be a draft schema on "The Church in the Modern World," and the debates will give clues to the church's future.

But much change has already taken place.

Church historians say that since the First Century was the Catholic Church been so aware of its public image. This has accounted, at least in part, for some of the external changes.

For example, the change in nuns' apparel by many orders, from long robes and tight headpieces to simple black dresses and bonnets.

But there have been significant changes within the church. In recent years there has been less emphasis on proclamation of dogma for Catholics and more emphasis on explaining and clarifying the things that all Christians have in common.

All of this, say the church historians, is a natural evolution because the church is a living body made up of human members. Even the historians, however, seem a little amazed at the many changes in so short a time. What the church is trying to do, they say, is to accommodate itself to the new world without compromising its fundamental beliefs.

Much of the new movement in the church today is due directly to the late Pope John XXIII. Much of the outcome will rest with Pope Paul VI.

Within the church are conservatives who feel that traditionalism is strength, that sudden change could mean disruption, doubts and danger to the faith.

Other prelates — largely pastoral bishops who live and work away from Rome — say that if the church is to survive in an age of scepticism, doubt and materialistic philosophy, it must change.

Many of the Church felt as Pope John did about the necessity for modernization. But by voicing his views as the absolute ruler of the Roman Catholic Church and spiritual leader of the world's half-billion Catholics, Pope John gave the tendencies toward change great impetus. The council provided the platform.

Pope John called for aggiornamento — "updating." He said he wanted to open the windows of the Church and let in fresh air. He said he hoped to create a climate for eventual unity of all Christians in brotherhood and peace.

Pope Paul has pledged himself to carry on John's program. But the changes already undertaken have had profound meaning for the modernization movement.

The council's liturgy reform makes it possible for the first time for Roman Catholics to celebrate most of the Mass and sacraments in their own language instead of Latin. The council also has expressed approval of modern styles in ecclesiastical art and the use of native instruments like toms in place of pipe organs in primitive countries.

And now Pope Paul has made it clear that the Church is undergoing change on the controversial issue of birth control. He broke long years of official Vatican silence to say that the Church is studying the issue in the light of new developments and would report results as soon as possible.

It is accepted that the Pope was discussing birth control pills, which have become the fo-

Roman Catholic Church Moves Toward Showdown on Big Issues

VATICAN CITY (AP) — In an age of change and crisis, the Roman Catholic Church is moving toward a showdown on some of the major issues of modern times — and the world is watching.

The stirrings within the church encompass such questions as its position on artificial birth control, the population explosion, relations with communism, race relations and its role in an age of space exploration, atomic weapons and emerging nations.

What directions the church will take will become clearer next month with the resumption on Sept. 14 of the Vatican Ecumenical Council — the third session.

Before the prelates will be a draft schema on "The Church in the Modern World," and the debates will give clues to the church's future.

But much change has already taken place.

Church historians say that not since the First Century was the Catholic Church been so aware of its public image. This has accounted, at least in part, for some of the external changes. For example, the change in nuns' apparel by many orders, from long robes and tight headpieces to simple black dresses and bonnets.

But there have been significant changes within the church. In recent years there has been less emphasis on proclamation of dogma for Catholics and more emphasis on explaining and clarifying the things that all Christians have in common.

All of this, say the church historians, is a natural evolution because the church is a living body made up of human members. Even the historians, however, seem a little amazed at the many changes in so short a time. What the church is trying to do, they say, is to accommodate itself to the new world without compromising its fundamental beliefs.

Much of the new movement in the church today is due directly to the late Pope John XXIII. Much of the outcome will rest with Pope Paul VI.

Within the church are conservatives who feel that traditionalism is strength, that sudden change could mean disruption, doubts and danger to the faith.

Other prelates — largely pastoral bishops who live and work away from Rome — say that if the church is to survive in an age of scepticism, doubt and materialistic philosophy, it must change.

Many of the Church felt as Pope John did about the necessity for modernization. But by voicing his views as the absolute ruler of the Roman Catholic Church and spiritual leader of the world's half-billion Catholics, Pope John gave the tendencies toward change great impetus. The council provided the platform.

Pope John called for aggiornamento — "updating." He said he wanted to open the windows of the Church and let in fresh air. He said he hoped to create a climate for eventual unity of all Christians in brotherhood and peace.

Pope Paul has pledged himself to carry on John's program. But the changes already undertaken have had profound meaning for the modernization movement.

The council's liturgy reform makes it possible for the first time for Roman Catholics to celebrate most of the Mass and sacraments in their own language instead of Latin. The council also has expressed approval of modern styles in ecclesiastical art and the use of native instruments like tomtoms in place of pipe organs in primitive countries.

And now Pope Paul has made it clear that the Church is undergoing change on the controversial issue of birth control. He broke long years of official Vatican silence to say that the Church is studying the issue in the light of new developments and would report results as soon as possible.

It is accepted that the Pope was discussing birth control pills, which have become the fo-

Man Apprehended In Shooting of Wife

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—David Jones, 31, sought in the shooting of his Columbus wife, was apprehended without resistance Monday when sheriff's deputies forced in the door of an abandoned home just west of Morristown where he was hiding.

His wife, Erma, 34, was wounded in the thighs Sunday night at her brother's home in Columbus where she was staying at the time. Jones, a resident of the state of Delaware, had been the object of a day-long search before he was captured.

All of this, say the church historians, is a natural evolution because the church is a living body made up of human members. Even the historians, however, seem a little amazed at the many changes in so short a time. What the church is trying to do, they say, is to accommodate itself to the new world without compromising its fundamental beliefs.

Pope Paul has pledged himself to carry on John's program. But the changes already undertaken have had profound cus of a widening discussion among churchmen.

In announcing the study June 23, Pope Paul reaffirmed the traditional Church ban on artificial birth control. And no one in authority at the Vatican is willing to predict whether or not when the study is done the Church will allow Catholics to use the pills.

It is in the same spirit that other recent changes have come about.

The Church, for example, has

Hines Purchases Selected Bull

Wayne Hines and family, Ashville, recently purchased a registered Ayrshire herd sire named Chris-Ayr Buttercup Gold from W. O. Christopher, Pataskala.

This bull was bred by Christopher. The production and type qualifications of the animals in the pedigree of this young bull are such as to qualify him for the Ayrshire Breeders' Assn. rating of "Selected Pedigree."

The bull is a son of the approved sire, Prairie Blue Dark Boy whose 16 tested daughters average 12,134 pounds of milk and 523 pounds of fat, on twice daily milking.

The dam of Chris-Ayr Buttercup Gold is Chris-Ayr Lullabell's Buttercup. She has a top herd test production record of 11,990 pounds milk and 503 pounds fat, actual at four years and four months of age in 305 days on twice a day milking.

eased the traditional ban against cremation, no longer condemning it for Catholics in areas where local custom or shortage of cemetery space make burial difficult.

Saturday Masses are now permitted for worshippers who for special reasons cannot attend mass on Sunday.

The next council session will take up two other provocative issues — declarations on religious liberty and on the Catholic attitude toward Jews and other non-Christians.

There are those who say that for all this, Pope Paul is moving more slowly than John. Pope John was a man in a hurry. He was 77 when he became pope. He often said he did not have much time.

But Pope Paul was 65 — eleven years young than John — when elected. He has every reason to expect more time to bring about what he desires for the church.

Dear Abby: The Height of 'Modesty'!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband was raised in a family where MODESTY was the eleventh commandment.

About a year ago, he developed a hernia which kept getting worse. After begging him to see a doctor, he finally went. The doctor said he needed an operation right away.

When my husband found out there would be a surgical nurse there, he said he would rather die than have the operation. He went to four other doctors and they all told him the same thing, and none of them could promise him that a nurse wouldn't have any part in caring for him. My husband said nurses are OK for women and children, but not for a man with a hernia.

This was the first time he had been to a doctor since he took his physical for World War II. He is worrying me sick. Can you help me?

MODESTY'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Modesty is one thing—idiotcy is another. Ask one of those four doctors to assure your husband that nurses couldn't care less about a patient's body. And he should cut out the foolishness and head for the hospital.

New Jeweled Accessories Add Sparkle

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Choose baubles for beauty. Big, bold, beautiful rings and elaborate bracelets are the jeweled accessories that project hands into the fashion spotlight.

Because these pieces are displayed against skin rather than against fabric, the smart woman will follow a beauty as well as a fashion routine when she reaches for rings for her fingers.

Soft skin, smooth cuticles, nails and uniform length and a perfect polish job are mandatory when wearing one of the new big rings that make hands look more fragile and feminine.

If your ring has a paler stone, wear pastel polish. A vivid lacquer will compete with your gem for attention.

Bracelets focus the spotlight on wrists, so keep wrists smooth with daily applications of cream or lotion. Massage it in faithfully.

As a fashion tip, don't wear a bracelet on one wrist only. Instead, wear a matching bracelet on each wrist. This is the big fad in France.

Pink, reports the Fashion Coordination Institute, is the jewelry color most likely to succeed this season. It's flattering worn near the face, so no wonder it's way up at top of the hit parade. Pale pink becomes both the very pale and the very dark complexion. Medium pink suits the in-between complexion, while shocking pink and mauve shades are most flattering with dark skin.

White jewelry is very much in the picture, too. Beautywise it's great with a tan. Fashionwise, it's wonderfully chic worn with black.

The third big jewelry color is beige, ranging from pale bone to deep maple sugar shades.

It's a great color for the blonde and for the redhead.

Turquoise and blue beads are in the summer picture, too, and they're marvelous if eyes are blue, for they make them seem bluer.

Most women consider clothes when they choose jewelry. It makes sense, but it makes just as much sense to consider your appearance and also choose a jeweled accessory that will capitalize on a beauty asset.

Many good cooks like to use a hot oven for roasting Cornish game hen.

BEAUTY ASSET — White beads provide a wonderful contrast to tanned skin. They're also smart when worn with a black costume.

Pink, reports the Fashion Coordination Institute, is the jewelry color most likely to succeed this season. It's flattering worn near the face, so no wonder it's way up at top of the hit parade. Pale pink becomes both the very pale and the very dark complexion. Medium pink suits the in-between complexion, while shocking pink and mauve shades are most flattering with dark skin.

White jewelry is very much in the picture, too. Beautywise it's great with a tan. Fashion-wise, it's wonderfully chic worn with black. The third big jewelry color is beige, ranging from pale bone to deep maple sugar shades. It's a great color for the blonde and for the redhead. Turquoise and blue beads are in the summer picture, too, and they're marvelous if eyes are blue, for they make them seem bluer. Most women consider clothes when they choose jewelry. It makes sense, but it makes just as much sense to consider your appearance and also choose a jeweled accessory that will capitalize on a beauty asset.

Truex was tagged for a single hit and two runs and walked a batter. He fanned three.

Tom Taylor and Hoskins paced the winning offense, each getting two singles in four turns at bat. Truex tagged a single, Alan Hawks had a single and both Randy Young and Richard Lund lashed bingles.

Ruttman Says It's Time To Quit Racing

DETROIT (AP) — Troy Ruttman, youngest driver ever to win the Indianapolis 500-mile classic, said Monday night that he is retiring from racing because "I want to walk out of it alive with my head up."

Ruttman, who won the 500-mile Memorial Day race at Indianapolis in 1952 at the age of 22, said his retirement "was not a hasty decision."

He said he felt racing had been good to him but "every time I sit down in a race car death is sitting right beside me."

Ruttman, 34, of suburban Dearborn, has been a racing driver since he was 13. He has been injured seriously several times and narrowly escaped death in this year's Indianapolis 500 in which one of his closest friends, Detroit Eddie Sachs, was killed.

Ruttman, recalled he was running alongside Sachs when the fatal crash occurred. "That started me thinking," he said. "It takes a lot of courage to race, but it takes more courage to quit," Ruttman added in an interview with Dave Diles, sports director of WXYZ-TV in Detroit.

Ruttman, who owns a motorcycle shop in Dearborn, said he "was turning the sport over to younger men."

The 20-man All-Star team will play the Cleveland Indians here Aug. 17.

The eight were added Monday to the first 12 All-Stars, who were chosen last week in a pool of seven International League managers.

Coach Mel Wright of the Chicago Cubs compiled a 2-4 record while appearing in 58 major league games between 1953 and 1961.

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus leads the list of 10 top pro golf money winners released by the Professional Golfers Association.

Nicklaus has played in 19 tournaments, winning three for $96,217.

Redskin Coach Pins Hope On His New Quarterback

Editor's Note: Following is another in a series on pro grid team prospects.

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Bill McPeak breaks all the rules for football coaches. He steps right out front and says he thinks his Washington Redskins are going to win.

"If we can keep our quarterback in one piece, we can take it all," said the coach-general manager of the 'Skins at the training base at Dickinson College. "I don't know how good he was until we got him."

McPeak was talking about Sonny Jurgensen, the quarterback he got from Philadelphia in a trade for Norm Snead, his former protege. At the moment, Jurgie can walk on water as far as McPeak is concerned.

Of course, walking is all Jurgie can do at the moment, since he is out for some 10 days with an injured knee, but the quarterback is expected to be fit for the opener on Sept. 13 against the tough Browns.

"I think the Eastern Conference will be a hodge podge," said McPeak.

McPeak counts on Sam Huff, the ex-New York Giant, to steady his defense just as he expects Jurgensen to lead the offense.

"We've never had a linebacker like Huff," said McPeak. "Sam is full of vinegar and he wants to do well. He was pleasantly surprised at the caliber of our defensive line."

The 'Skins' attack will hinge

Defending champion John Monasmith, Yakima, Wash., 23-7.

Ten-time champion Ted Allen, Boulder, Colo., 22-8.

Mosquito League All-Stars Down Pickaway Unit, 6-5

The Circleville Mosquito League All-Stars dropped the Pickaway County All-Stars 6-5 last night in a game played at Derby.

Greg Hoskins started on the mound for Circleville and threw the initial four frames. Dave Truex played the role of the reliever and finished the game.

Hoskins allowed three runs on two hits. He had good control, limiting the Pickaway Countians to four walks and throwing three strikes past six batters.

Truex was tagged for a single hit and two runs and walked a batter. He fanned three.

Tom Taylor and Hoskins paced the winning offense, each getting two singles in four turns at bat. Truex tagged a single, Alan Hawks had a single and both Randy Young and Richard Lund lashed bingles.

Clapper started for the Pickaway All-Stars, throwing for the first two innings. He gave up four runs on three hits walked two batters and fanned three.

Musselman was the relief pitcher, tossing the remaining four cantos. He allowed two runs on four hits, walked three and fanned four.

Volane tagged the longest hit of the day, a triple, in three.

IL All-Star Team Picked for Test

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Manager Frank Carswell of Syracuse has chosen eight players to fill out the International League All-Star team. They are:

Pitchers Sam Jones of Columbus, Dick Lemay of Jacksonville, Bruce Brubaker of Syracuse and Ron Piche of Toronto.

Outfielders Cleon Jones of Buffalo, Felix Jimenez of Richmond and Ossie Virgil of Toronto, and Catcher Ron Brand of Columbus.

The 20-man All-Star team will play the Cleveland Indians here Aug. 17.

The eight were added Monday to the first 12 All-Stars, who were chosen last week in a pool of seven International League managers.

Coach Mel Wright of the Chicago Cubs compiled a 2-4 record while appearing in 58 major league games between 1953 and 1961.

Ruttman Says It's Time To Quit Racing

DETROIT (AP)—Troy Ruttman, youngest driver ever to win the Indianapolis 500-mile classic, said Monday night that he is retiring from racing because "I want to walk out of it alive with my head up."

Ruttman, who won the 500-mile Memorial Day race at Indianapolis in 1952 at the age of 22, said his retirement "was not a hasty decision."

He said he felt racing had been good to him but "every time I sit down in a race car death is sitting right beside me."

Ruttman, 34, of suburban Dearborn, has been a racing driver since he was 13. He has been injured seriously several times and narrowly escaped death in this year's Indianapolis 500 in which one of his closest friends, Detroit Eddie Sachs, was killed.

Ruttman, recalled he was running alongside Sachs when the fatal crash occurred. "That started me thinking," he said.

"It takes a lot of courage to race, but it takes more courage to quit," Ruttman added in an interview with Dave Diles, sports director of WXYZ-TV in Detroit.

Ruttman, who owns a motorcycle shop in Dearborn, said he "was turning the sport over to younger men."

Nicklaus Retains Golf Cash Lead

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus leads the list of 10 top pro golf money winners released by the Professional Golfers Association.

Nicklaus has played in 19 tournaments, winning three for $96,217.

Arnold Palmer, all-time top money winner with more than $180,000 to his credit for a single season, is second with $90,443.

Tony Lema ranks third with $68,738. Bill Casper Jr. fourth with $64,886 and Gary Player fifth with $52,449.

Juan Rodriguez has earned $46,610; Ken Venturi, $45,565; Mason Rudolph, $39,612; Mike Souchak, $37,414; and Bob Nichols, $34,527.

There are 18 new assistant coaches throughout the National Football League this year.

Redskin Coach Pins Hope On His New Quarterback

Editor's Note: Following is another in a series on pro grid team prospects.

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—Bill McPeak breaks all the rules for football coaches. He steps right out front and says he thinks his Washington Redskins are going to win.

"If we can keep our quarterback in one piece, we can take it all," said the coach-general manager of the 'Skins at the training base at Dickinson College. "I don't know how good he was until we got him."

McPeak was talking about Sonny Jurgensen, the quarterback he got from Philadelphia in a trade for Norm Snead, his former protege. At the moment, Jurg can walk on water as far as McPeak is concerned.

Of course, walking is all Jurg can do at the moment, since he is out for some 10 days with an injured knee, but the quarterback is expected to be fit for the opener on Sept. 13 against the tough Browns.

"I think the Eastern Conference will be a hodge podge," said McPeak.

McPeak counts on Sam Huff, the ex-New York Giant, to steady his defense just as he expects Jurgensen to lead the offense.

"We've never had a linebacker like Huff," said McPeak. "Sam is full of vinegar and he wants to do well. He was pleasantly surprised at the caliber of our defensive line."

The 'Skins' attack will hinge

Chisox Seek First Victory Over Yankees

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Chicago White Sox will have baseball's big yardstick — the law of averages — going for them today when they open Phase II of the American League's three-way pennant stretch at Yankee Stadium.

The White Sox will be looking for their first 1964 victory over New York but their 0-10 nose-dive against the Yankees doesn't show up in the league standings. Chicago, having shrugged off the Yankee hex while building a fat 67-34 bulge against the rest of the league, is in second place, 12 percentage points behind front-running Baltimore and two points up on New York.

The Sox can't ignore the Yankees for the next four games, beginning with a day-night doubleheader today. But Al Lopez, who pays less heed to the law of averages than to his pitching staff's 2.79 earned run average, believes the defending champions are ready to be taken.

Lopez will send Joe Horlen, 8-7, 2.17 ERA, against the Yankees' Ralph Terry, 5-8, in this afternoon's opener. Juan Pizarro, the league's No. 1 southpaw with a 14-6 mark and 2.14 ERA, opposes New York's Jim Bouton, 12-9, at night.

The Chicago sharpshooters will face a Yankee team beset by injuries to its key men, Whitey Ford and Mickey Mantle.

The White Sox are healthy, though their offense is less than robust.

After the White Sox leave town, the Yankees have a three-game series at Baltimore and a four-game visit to Chicago.

The Orioles, meanwhile, have an opportunity to widen their lead in a three-game series against Boston, beginning tonight at Baltimore. Rookie sensation Wally Bunker, 12-3, will pitch for the league leaders against the Red Sox' Bob Feller, 5-4. Detroit, working on a seven-game winning streak, visits Minnesota; Cleveland is at Los Angeles and Washington at Kansas City.

There were no AL games scheduled Monday. In National League night games, St. Louis nipped San Francisco 2-1, dropping the Giants three games behind league-leading Philadelphia, and third place Cincinnati whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2.

Purkey Holds Dodgers to Only 4 Hits

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bob Purkey baffled Los Angeles with four hits and the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Dodgers 7-2 Monday night to gain a game on second place San Francisco.

Purkey, with 21-year-old Mel Queen and Steve Boros providing the hitting punch, went the distance for the first time since May 31. It was the veteran knuckleballer's 250th start in the National League and his 114th victory.

Purkey, recently relegated to the bullpen, is now 6-6 on the season and had only this to say about his knuckleball that stopped the Dodgers:

"Without that pitch, I'm dead. I had it tonight though."

Manager Fred Hutchinson recalled that Purkey looked like his old self in 1961, and said "he had a good knuckleball until about the seventh inning but his stuff slipped off a bit."

Queen, son of the former New York Yankees pitcher, was the surprise of the game. He got three hits and batted in one run.

"I just had a lucky night," was all Queen had to say.

Boros collected two hits and drove in three runs.

Earl Cox, 52, recently set a California state men's bowling tournament record when he fired a 783 series. The Compton resident rolled 279, 247 and 257.

Packers, Bears Ponder Lineup after First Tests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Green Bay Packers, shocked by their first loss in 25 exhibition games, have made some wholesale changes in rookie personnel while the Chicago Bears are having some second thoughts about their narrow victory over the College All-Stars.

The Packers, second in the Western Conference last year after two years as the National Football League champions, were knocked off by the St. Louis Cardinals 20-7 in New Orleans last weekend. It broke a string of 24 straight exhibition victories for the mighty Packers.

Taking part in their first drill with the Packers Monday after playing in the All-Star game were tackle Lloyd Voss of Nebraska, center Ken Bowman of Wisconsin, halfback Duke Carlisle of Texas, quarterback Dennis Clardie of Nebraska and linebacker Tommy Crutcher of Texas Christian.

Trimmed from the team that will play the New York Giants Saturday were center-guard Dave Crossan of Maryland, defensive back Beau Carter of Fresno State, back Gary Kroner of Wisconsin, end Tom O'Grady of Northwestern, defensive back Larry Hunter from Grambling and defensive back Joe Scarpati from North Carolina State.

Chicago Bears Owner-Coach George Halas, meanwhile, is trying to get the look at his second stringers he couldn't afford in the tight 28-17 victory over the All-Stars in Chicago last weekend.

The Bears were so hard-pressed against the college boys they couldn't work in many of the substitutes, and Halas has indicated he'll use them this week against Washington.

The Pittsburgh Steelers trimmed five men from their roster in Kingston, R.I., halfback Martin Agnew of University of the South, tackle T. W. Alley of William and Mary, tackle Charlie Harris of Tennessee A&I, tackle Dick Mills of Pittsburgh and linebacker Bob Rowley of Virginia.

16-Year-Old Pitches Perfect Game in Meet

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Mark Belich, a 16-year-old left-hander of West Allis, Wis., Monday pitched the first perfect game in the 12-year history of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Teener Baseball Tournament.

The 6-foot, 200-pounder set down all 21 players to face him as West Allis defeated Pierre, S.D. 3-0 in an opening round game.

The total pari-mutuel handle, 1963, harness racing, was $1,067,130,007.

Baltimore asked waivers on journeyman fullback Bob Gaiters, a New Mexico State product who failed to get into a game last year.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Roy Rogers and Dale Evans were rehearsing their guest — star parts in one of Andy Williams' forthcoming variety shows in an NBC sound stage recently.

As part of a big, colorful country-style production number, Roy was to ride on stage in a motor scooter. "My hairless horse," with Dale poised, side-saddle, on the seat behind. After a couple of swings around the stage and some dancing with the chorus boys, Dale climbed to a special elevated set. Then she launched into a song without a suggestion of breathlessness.

But, if a spectator sitting in the audience had taken his eyes off the stage and its activity, he would have noticed that during the song, the members of the orchestra at the side of the stage were idly reading newspapers and dozing.

This fakery is a bit of routine film-and magic, a technique of lip synchronization or "lip-syn," which permits a movie star to warble like a nightingale, courtesy of some unseen soprano's vocal chords; gives the impression that those lines of chorus boy and girl dancers also can sing like the Salt Lake City Mormon Tabernacle Choir and, most important, frees a performer from a microphone to frolic all over a stage.

The process involves technical skill. Singers and nonsingers must learn to mouth the words to give a convincing pantomime while the recording is being played. Most veterans handle it beautifully, although once in a while a sharp-eyed viewer will catch a slip-up.

Some performers, engrossed in other chores, have been known to forget the lyrics of the song they were supposed to be singing. As a bit of extra insurance, there is usually a fellow standing just outside camera range holding up cards on which the lyrics are in large print.

Chisox Seek First Victory Over Yankees

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago White Sox will have baseball's big yardstick — the law of averages — going for them today when they open Phase II of the American League's three-way pennant stretch at Yankee Stadium.

The White Sox will be looking for their first 1964 victory over New York but their 0-10 nose-dive against the Yankees doesn't show up in the league standings. Chicago, having shrugged off the Yankee hex while building a fat 67-34 bulge against the rest of the league, is in second place, 12 percentage points behind front-running Baltimore and two points up on New York.

The Sox can't ignore the Yankees for the next four games, beginning with a day-night doubleheader today. But Al Lopez, who pays less heed to the law of averages than to his pitching staff's 2.79 earned run average, believes the defending champions are ready to be taken.

Lopez will send Joe Horlen, 8-7, 2.17 ERA, against the Yankees' Ralph Terry, 5-8, in this afternoon's opener. Juan Pizarro, the league's No. 1 southpaw with a 14-6 mark and 2.14 ERA, opposes New York's Jim Bouton, 12-9, at night.

The Chicago sharpshooters will face a Yankee team beset by injuries to its key men, Whitey Ford and Mickey Mantle.

The White Sox are healthy, though their offense is less than robust.

After the White Sox leave town, the Yankees have a three-game series at Baltimore and a four-game visit to Chicago.

The Orioles, meanwhile, have an opportunity to widen their lead in a three-game series against Boston, beginning to-night at Baltimore. Rookie sensation Wally Bunker, 12-3, will pitch for the league leaders against the Red Sox' Bob Feller, 5-4, Detroit, working on a seven-game winning streak, visits Minnesota; Cleveland is at Los Angeles and Washington at Kansas City.

There were no AL games scheduled Monday. In National League night games, St. Louis nipped San Francisco 2-1, dropping the Giants three games behind league-leading Philadelphia, and third place Cincinnati whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2.

Purkey Holds Dodgers to Only 4 Hits

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bob Purkey baffled Los Angeles with four hits and the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Dodgers 7-2 Monday night to gain a game on second place San Francisco.

Purkey, with 21-year-old Mel Queen and Steve Boros providing the hitting punch, went the distance for the first time since May 31. It was the veteran knuckleballer's 250th start in the National League and his 114th victory.

Purkey, recently relegated to the bullpen, is now 6-6 on the season and had only this to say about his knuckleball that stopped the Dodgers:

"Without that pitch, I'm dead. I had it tonight though."

Manager Fred Hutchinson recalled that Purkey looked like his old self in 1961, and said "he had a good knuckleball until about the seventh inning but his stuff slipped off a bit."

Queen, son of the former New York Yankees pitcher, was the surprise of the game. He got three hits and batted in one run.

"I just had a lucky night," was all Queen had to say.

Boros collected two hits and drove in three runs.

Earl Cox, 52, recently set a California state men's bowling tournament record when he fired a 783 series. The Compton resident rolled 279, 247 and 257.

Packers, Bears Ponder Lineup after First Tests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Green Bay Packers, shocked by their first loss in 25 exhibition games, have made some wholesale changes in rookie personnel while the Chicago Bears are having some second thoughts about their narrow victory over the College All-Stars.

The Packers, second in the Western Conference last year after two years as the National Football League champions, were knocked off by the St. Louis Cardinals 20-7 in New Orleans last weekend. It broke a string of 24 straight exhibition victories for the mighty Packers.

Taking part in their first drill with the Packers Monday after playing in the All-Star game were tackle Lloyd Voss of Nebraska, center Ken Bowman of Wisconsin, halfback Duke Carlisle of Texas, quarterback Dennis Clardige of Nebraska and linebacker Tommy Crutcher of Texas Christian.

Trimmed from the team that will play the New York Giants Saturday were center-guard Dave Crossan of Maryland, defensive back Beau Carter of Fresno State, back Gary Kroner of Wisconsin, end Tom O'Grady of Northwestern, defensive back Larry Hunter from Grambling and defensive back Joe Scarpati from North Carolina State.

Chicago Bears Owner-Coach George Halas, meanwhile, is trying to get the look at his second stringers he couldn't afford in the tight 28-17 victory over the All-Stars in Chicago last weekend.

The Bears were so hard-pressed against the college boys they couldn't work in many of the substitutes, and Halas has indicated he'll use them this week against Washington.

The Pittsburgh Steelers trimmed five men from their roster in Kingston, R.I., half-back Martin Agnew of University of the South, tackle T. W. Alley of William and Mary, tackle Charlie Harris of Tennessee A&I, tackle Dick Mills of Pittsburgh and linebacker Bob Rowley of Virginia.

Unconditional Truce OK'd in Cyprus Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said Monday night Turkey and Cyprus have accepted the U.N. appeal for a cease-fire without conditions. He pledged that the United Nations would exert every effort to keep the peace on Cyprus.

Thant's statements were made in a report to U.N. Security Council members, circulated shortly after the Turkish and Cyprus governments announced they would enforce a cease-fire. The Turks declared, however, that they would continue reconnaissance flights over Cyprus until Greek Cypriot forces withdraw to positions they occupied Aug. 5.

In his statement, Thant said: "It is gratifying and encouraging that both governments have responded positively and without conditions."

"These decisions of the two governments now afford an opportunity for definitely ending the fighting and relaxing tension in Cyprus."

"It will be my purpose to take fullest possible advantage of this opportunity by exerting every effort toward constructive peace-keeping arrangements in all areas of the island." He gave no indication of any new measures the United Nations might be planning.

The U.N. force on Cyprus numbers almost 6,000 officers and men, but it couldn't prevent Greek Cypriots from attacking Turkish Cypriot villages on the northwest coast last week. Turkey says these attacks prompted its air raids.

The U.N. role on the island has been confined largely to patrols between the hostile Turkish and Greek communities.

Muny Court Lists Record In Cases, Income for July

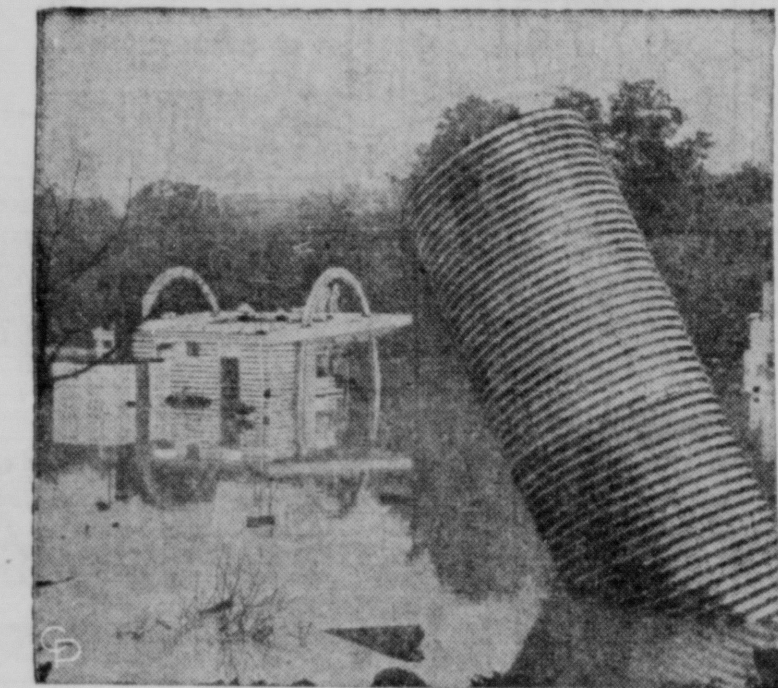

The Circleville Municipal Court collected a record income of $11,722.50 from fines, costs, and bond forfeitures during the month of July.

The total exceeded that of any previous month since the inception of the court on Jan. 1, 1964, according to Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

There were 459 cases filed during the month, also a new high. Disposition was made on 455 cases.

The bulk of the income was disbursed to the City of Circleville. The city coffers received $7,873.75.

Solon Says Ohio Awaits Order on Apportionment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, says Ohio's General Assembly has no authority in legislative reapportionment unless the courts rule a realignment must be made. But "we want to prepare plans in case this happens."

For this reason, he said, the 21-member, bi-partisan legislative committee appointed to study reapportionment Monday poured over Ohio's constitutional provision and six U.S. Supreme Court decisions on the matter.

The material was prepared by the Legislative Service Commission, the fact-finding arm of the legislature, to aid the committee in its study.

Cloud, chairman of the committee, said Monday's meeting was only "to weigh the present constitutional provisions and the six apportionment cases the Supreme Court has handed down already as to their import and how they might affect Ohio."

The Supreme Court recently ruled that both houses of a bicameral state legislature must be apportioned strictly according to population.

Ohio's 1903 Hanna Amendment provides one House member for each county regardless of population.

A suit involving the Hanna amendment before the high court was sent to a federal district court and is still to be heard before a three-judge panel.

Cloud said the amendment could be overturned in court and "the court might even go further." He said he believes the state attorney general's office will file its brief with the district court by the end of the month.

Cloud said he does not expect the study committee to meet again until after the Democratic National Convention beginning Aug. 24. The committee is composed of members of the House and Senate from the rural and urban areas.

THERE WILL BE "STING"—Adm. Ulysses Grant Sharp Jr., commander-in-chief of U.S. Pacific forces, talks with newsmen about the "unprovoked attack" by three North Vietnamese patrol-torpedo boats on the destroyer USS Maddox. He said the Americans suffered no damages or casualties. President Johnson said he has ordered the Navy to double its destroyer force off North Viet Nam and to provide sufficient air cover to destroy any attacking force.

Johnson Hails Asia Resolution

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed the congressional resolution supporting his actions in Southeast Asia and says he hopes it is read around the world as it states plainly "where America stands."

"To any armed attack upon our forces," said the President, "we shall reply."

"To any in Southeast Asia who ask our help in defending their freedom, we shall give it."

With military and congressional leaders grouped around him, Johnson signed the joint resolution Monday with a couple dozen pens in the East Room of the White House.

Noting its quick and almost unanimous passage in both houses of Congress, Johnson remarked, "The unanimity of the Congress reflects the unanimity of the country."

Johnson recalled he had asked for the resolution approving his actions after ordering American naval forces last Tuesday to send air strikes against North Vietnamese PT boats and bases in retaliation for attacks on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

"This resolution," he added, "confirms and reinforces powers of the presidency. I pledge to all Americans to use these powers with all the wisdom and judgment God grants to me."

With passage of the resolution, he said, "our course is clearly known in every land."

"There can be no mistake, no miscalculation, of where America stands or what this generation of Americans stands for."

He said in Southeast Asia "there is nothing we covet, nothing we seek. Our one desire, our one determination, is that the people of Southeast Asia be left in peace to work out their own destinies in their own way."

The President repeated his unity theme in a White House luncheon with 200 businessmen.

Henry Cabot Lodge, leaving this weekend on a mission to appraise European allies of the Southeast Asian situation, told newsmen Monday "it is safe to assume" that North Viet Nam's leader, Ho Chi Minh, "is not a free agent."

He said he had to believe that North Viet Nam would not have attacked U.S. destroyers without first clearing it with Red China.

Mrs. Clara Massey was hired for an elementary position at Darby Twp. She completed her college work at Rio Grande College and Ohio University.

Lawrence White, Seaman, O., was employed to teach mathematics in the high school. He is a graduate of Ohio State University.

Judson Lannan, executive head, announced today that two elementary vacancies still exist.

IN OTHER action taken by the board, a contract was awarded to The Dunlap Co. to install a water line to the football field. A contract was also awarded to the Texas Refining Co. for roof repair at Williamsport and Monroe schools.

The Coca Cola Co. is to supply the new football field with a scoreboard, according to a contract agreement made by the board.

Bids for insurance contracts and bread for the cafeteria were also considered, but no official action was taken.

The resignation of Paul Long as custodian of the high school building was accepted. The vacancy will be filled prior to the opening of school.

During the board meeting, Mrs. Joan Dawson was employed as secretary at Monroe Twp. and Mrs. Rosevelyn McDill as secretary at Williamsport School.

Vast Voc Ed Plan Studied By Ohio Chiefs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Board of Education is considering a plan for a vast expansion of vocational education in Ohio schools which would include new types of training programs plus radical revamping of present ones.

The plan, if approved, would involve an added $43 million in federal, state and local funds during the next three years.

Byrl A. Shoemaker, director of vocational education, submitted the plan to the state board Monday for the State Department of Education.

The state board is expected to consider it officially at its Sept. 14 meeting.

One of the fundamentals of the plan is to provide whatever kind of training is needed to make a person employable rather than to go to school in order to obtain knowledge in certain courses, Shoemaker said.

The plan, if approved, will give first priority to constructing, remodeling and equipping area vocational school facilities, financed by 80 per cent of the anticipated $5.2 million in federal funds for the first year, plus state and local matching funds.

Afterwards, development of new programs and expanded enrollments would be emphasized, Shoemaker said.

Federal funds would total $7.2 million for 1965 and $9 million in 1966. Matching state or local funds would be required. Ohio now receives $2.2 million in federal vocational funds.

The state board must approve a vocational plan to participate in the recently approved federal program. Congress is expected to appropriate the added vocational funds shortly.

Both secondary schools and adults could use the new vocational facilities, which would make possible handling greatly increased enrollments. Shoemaker said Ohio's current enrollment of 47,000 high school students could almost double within two years.

The state board Monday postponed approving its plan to require centralized state purchasing of school buses which would require school districts receiving state funds to buy the bus body and chassis determined by the lowest bid in a state bidding procedure.

The board is expected to officially approve the plan at its September meeting, completing action on the proposal which has been held up for a year by litigation by body and chassis manufacturers.

Ohio Dems To Back LBJ Choice as Running Mate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's delegation to the Democratic National Convention has agreed to support whomever President Johnson picks as his vice presidential running mate.

The delegates' decision forestalled a plan to urge endorsement of Ohio Congressman Wayne Hayes of Flushing for the vice presidential nomination.

The action came Monday at the close of the state democratic organization's organization and strategy meeting.

Other highlights of the meeting, which was marked for its unusual harmony, included:

—Disclosure of plans for a statewide door-to-door fund solicitation drive Sept. 20 to finance the fall election campaigns.

—Announcement that President Johnson may visit Columbus Sept. 19 to climax the party's two-day state convention.

—Selection of Cuyahoga County Chairman Albert S. Porter to succeed State Chairman William L. Coleman as national committeeman, Mrs. Helen Gunsett of Van Wert for another term as national committee woman, and U. S. Sen. Stephen M. Young as delegation chairman.

Ohio's national convention delegation of 128 delegates and 97 alternates has 99 votes because 58 members have only a half vote each.

The delegation is nominally pledged to Porter as "favorite son" stand-in but actually is committed to President Johnson for the presidential nomination.

The plan to endorse Hays for the vice presidential nomination had been announced earlier by Hugo Alexander, Jefferson County chairman.

But Porter's motion to back Johnson's choice for the vice presidential nomination was approved before Alexander's proposal got consideration.

The ambitious fund drive was approved earlier Monday by

Unconditional Truce OK'd in Cyprus Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said Monday night Turkey and Cyprus have accepted the U.N. appeal for a cease-fire without conditions. He pledged that the United Nations would exert every effort to keep the peace on Cyprus.

Thant's statements were made in a report to U.N. Security Council members, circulated shortly after the Turkish and Cyprus governments announced they would enforce a cease-fire. The Turks declared, however, that they would continue reconnaissance flights over Cyprus until Greek Cypriot forces withdrew to positions they occupied Aug. 5.

In his statement, Thant said: "It is gratifying and encouraging that both governments have responded positively and without conditions."

"These decisions of the two governments now afford an opportunity for definitely ending the fighting and relaxing tension in Cyprus."

"It will be my purpose to take fullest possible advantage of this opportunity by exerting every effort toward constructive peace-keeping arrangements in all areas of the island." He gave no indication of any new measures the United Nations might be planning.

The U.N. force on Cyprus numbers almost 6,000 officers and men, but it couldn't prevent Greek Cypriots from attacking Turkish Cypriot villages on the northwest coast last week. Turkey says these attacks prompted its air raids.

The U.N. role on the island has been confined largely to patrols between the hostile Turkish and Greek communities.

The Cyprus government has asked for another Security Council meeting, but there was no immediate indication when this might take place.

U.N. headquarters said Turkish planes flew over an area south of the village of Alevga, near the scene of recent fighting, for 25 minutes this morning but did not open fire.

Only a few isolated gunshots were heard during the night as both Greek and Turkish Cypriots observed the truce, the U.N. said.

Turkey said it would send its jets on scouting missions until the U.N. troop can enforce the truce and Greek Cypriots withdraw from positions they captured in the last six days.

The Turkish Air Force began its retaliation raids after the Greek Cypriots opened a drive Aug. 5 on the only remaining Turkish Cypriot coastal strip. The Cyprus government charges that Turkish troops and arms were being landed at the Turkish Cypriot fishing village of Kokkina.

The crisis left the government of Cyprus badly split, possibly impairing the political strength of Archbishop Makarios, Greek Cypriot president. Rightists and leftists in the cabinet exchanged angry words over whether to count on Greece or the Soviet Union for help, informants said.

Both factions were disappointed by the less than wholehearted support they received from Greece and the Soviet Union.

In Athens, Greek Premier George Papandreou indicated Monday night he does not look forward to a war over Cyprus with Turkey, Greece's eastern Mediterranean partner in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Muny Court Lists Record In Cases, Income for July

The Circleville Municipal Court collected a record income of $11,722.50 from fines, costs, and bond forfeitures during the month of July.

The total exceeded that of any previous month since the inception of the court on Jan. 1, 1964, according to Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

There were 459 cases filed during the month, also a new high. Disposition was made on 453 cases.

The bulk of the income was disbursed to the City of Circleville. The city coffers received $7,873.75.

OF THIS total, $1,642.65 was for fines and bond forfeitures collected under city ordinances. Court costs from all criminal cases is also earmarked for the city. The total was $3,767.75 during July.

The City receives 45 per cent of Highway Patrol fines and bond forfeitures, amounting to $2,222.10. The remaining $241.25 were receipts from parking ticket violations.

Pickaway County received $1,612.30 from the court.

The disbursement to the treasurer of state was $2,222.10.

Besides the heavy traffic and criminal load, the court concluded four civil cases during the month. A total of 14 were filed. Judge Lamb also performed one marriage ceremony.

Solon Says Ohio Awaits Order on Apportionment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, says Ohio's General Assembly has no authority in legislative reapportionment unless the courts rule a realignment must be made. But "we want to prepare plans in case this happens."

For this reason, he said, the 21-member, bi-partisan legislative committee appointed to study reapportionment Monday poured over Ohio's constitutional provision and six U.S. Supreme Court decisions on the matter.

The material was prepared by the Legislative Service Commission, the fact-finding arm of the legislature, to aid the committee in its study.

Cloud, chairman of the committee, said Monday's meeting was only "to weigh the present constitutional provisions and the six apportionment cases the Supreme Court has handed down already as to their import and how they might affect Ohio."

The Supreme Court recently ruled that both houses of a bicameral state legislature must be apportioned strictly according to population.

Ohio's 1903 Hanna Amendment provides one House member for each county regardless of population.

A suit involving the Hanna amendment before the high court was sent to a federal district court and is still to be heard before a three-judge panel.

Cloud said the amendment could be overturned in court and "the court might even go further." He said he believes the state attorney general's office will file its brief with the district court by the end of the month.

Cloud said he does not expect the study committee to meet again until after the Democratic National Convention beginning Aug. 24. The committee is composed of members of the House and Senate from the rural and urban areas.

Information Of Interest To Veterans

(Veterans and their dependents who may have any questions concerning any benefits from the Veterans Administration should bring their questions to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. His office is located in the basement of the County Court House.)

According to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, James P. Shea, a new law has recently been passed which provides children of living veterans the right to participate in school benefits formerly available only to children of deceased veterans.

The new law, Shea said, makes eligible the children of veterans of the Spanish-American War, World War I, World War II, the Korean Conflict and the peacetime service who are permanently and totally disabled by illness or injury attributable to their service. In other words, the Service Officer continued, the condition or conditions for which the veteran is permanently and totally disabled must be service connected.

Under normal conditions, Shea said, the child must be between 18 and 23 years of age to be allowed this special education benefit. But, handicapped children who may need special training may start at age 14; children who are more than 23 years of age may in some cases qualify, when the person was serving in the armed forces before his or her 23rd birthday.

Those who attend school full time, Shea said, are paid $110 per month. And, he or she can go to any college or approved school below college level that they desire. However, high school courses are not allowed in this new VA educational assistance program.

For further information on this new law, which provides education benefits for the children of totally and permanently disabled service connected veterans, contact the Service Officer in his office in the basement of the county court house.

THERE WILL BE "STING"—Adm. Ulysses Grant Sharp Jr., commander-in-chief of U.S. Pacific forces, talks with newsmen about the "unprovoked attack" by three North Vietnamese patrol-torpedo boats on the destroyer USS Maddox. He said the Americans suffered no damages or casualties. President Johnson said he has ordered the Navy to double its destroyer force off North Viet Nam and to provide sufficient air cover to destroy any attacking force.

Johnson Hails Asia Resolution

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed the congressional resolution supporting his actions in Southeast Asia and says he hopes it is read around the world as it states plainly "where America stands."

"To any armed attack upon our forces," said the President, "we shall reply."

"To any in Southeast Asia who ask our help in defending their freedom, we shall give it."

With military and congressional leaders grouped around him, Johnson signed the joint resolution Monday with a couple dozen pens in the East Room of the White House.

Noting its quick and almost unanimous passage in both houses of Congress, Johnson remarked, "The unanimity of the Congress reflects the unanimity of the country."

Johnson recalled he had asked for the resolution approving his actions after ordering American naval forces last Tuesday to send air strikes against North Vietnamese PT boats and bases in retaliation for attacks on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

"This resolution," he added, "confirms and reinforces powers of the presidency. I pledge to all Americans to use these powers with all the wisdom and judgment God grants to me."

With passage of the resolution, he said, "our course is clearly known in every land."

"There can be no mistake, no miscalculation, of where America stands or what this generation of Americans stands for."

He said in Southeast Asia "there is nothing we covet, nothing we seek. Our one desire, our one determination, is that the people of Southeast Asia be left in peace to work out their own destinies in their own way."

The President repeated his unity theme in a White House luncheon with 200 businessmen.

Henry Cabot Lodge, leaving this weekend on a mission to appraise European allies of the Southeast Asian situation, told newsmen Monday "it is safe to assume" that North Viet Nam's leader, Ho Chi Minh, "is not a free agent."

He said he had to believe that North Viet Nam would not have attacked U.S. destroyers without first clearing it with Red China.

Vast Voc Ed Plan Studied By Ohio Chiefs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Board of Education is considering a plan for a vast expansion of vocational education in Ohio schools which would include new types of training programs plus radical revamping of present ones.

The plan, if approved, would involve an added $43 million in federal, state and local funds during the next three years.

Byrl A. Shoemaker, director of vocational education, submitted the plan to the state board Monday for the State Department of Education.

The state board is expected to consider it officially at its Sept. 14 meeting.

One of the fundamentals of the plan is to provide whatever kind of training is needed to make a person employable rather than to go to school in order to obtain knowledge in certain courses, Shoemaker said.

The plan, if approved, will give first priority to constructing, remodeling and equipping area vocational school facilities, financed by 80 per cent of the anticipated $5.2 million in federal funds for the first year, plus state and local matching funds.

Afterwards, development of new programs and expanded enrollments would be emphasized, Shoemaker said.

Federal funds would total $7.2 million for 1965 and $9 million in 1966. Matching state or local funds would be required. Ohio now receives $2.2 million in federal vocational funds.

The state board must approve a vocational plan to participate in the recently approved federal program. Congress is expected to appropriate the added vocational funds shortly.

Both secondary schools and adults could use the new vocational facilities, which would make possible handling greatly increased enrollments. Shoemaker said Ohio's current enrollment of 47,000 high school students could almost double within two years.

The state board Monday postponed approving its plan to require centralized state purchasing of school buses which would require school districts receiving state funds to buy the bus body and chassis determined by the lowest bid in a state bidding procedure.

The board is expected to officially approve the plan at its September meeting, completing action on the proposal which has been held up for a year by litigation by body and chassis manufacturers.
